IN-SEASON TOURNAMENT

The inaugural In-Season Tournament will tip off on Friday, Nov. 3 in NBA team markets and culminate with the playing of the Semifinals (Thursday, Dec. 7) and Championship (Saturday, Dec. 9) at T-Mobile Arena in Las Vegas.

The Tournament will consist of two stages: Group Play and the Knockout Rounds. Tournament Nights will take place every Tuesday and Friday, from Nov. 3-28 (with the exception of Election Day on Tuesday, Nov. 7, when no games will be played). The only NBA games played on Tournament Nights will be Group Play games. Group Play games will count as Regular Season games for all purposes. A team will play each of the other four teams in its group in one Group Play game. A team's record in these four intraconference games will determine whether the team qualifies for the Knockout Rounds. In the event two or more teams are tied within a group, the tie among the teams will be broken according to the following tiebreakers (in sequential order):

- Head-to-head record in the Group Stage;
- Point differential in the Group Stage;
- Total points scored in the Group Stage;
- Regular season record from the 2022-23 NBA regular season; and
- Random drawing (in the unlikely scenario that two or more teams are still tied following the previous tiebreakers).

The Warriors begin Group Play with a road game at Oklahoma City on Nov. 3. Golden State's second game is scheduled on Nov. 14 vs. Minnesota. The penultimate Group Play game for the Warriors takes place on Nov. 24 vs. San Antonio. The final Group Play game for the Warriors takes place on Nov. 28 at Sacramento.

WARRIORS 2023-24 IN-SEASON TOURNAMENT GROUP GAMES

DAY	DATE	OPPONENT	ARENA	TIME (PT)	TV

IN-SEASON TOURNAMENT

Eight teams will advance to the Knockout Rounds: the team with the best standing in Group Play games in each of the six groups and one wild card team from each conference. The wild card will be the team from each conference with the best record in Group Play games that finished second in its group. In the event two or more teams are tied for the wild card in a conference, the tie among the teams will be broken following the same tiebreaker protocol as described above (with the exception of the head-to-head record in the Group Stage). Ties within groups will be broken before the calculation of wild card tiebreakers.

The Knockout Rounds will consist of single-elimination games for the eight teams that advance from Group Play, beginning with the Quarterfinals on Dec. 4-5. Teams that win will progress to the neutral-site Semifinals on Dec. 7, and then the Championship on Dec. 9.

Games played in the first and second rounds of the Knockout Rounds (i.e., Quarterfinals and Semifinals, respectively) will count as Regular Season games for all purposes. The Championship will not be counted as a Regular Season game (e.g., such game would not count toward a team's Regular Season record and a player's or team's performance in such game would not count towards Regular Season statistics).

In each conference, Quarterfinal games will be hosted by the two teams with the best record in Group Play games, and the team with the best record in Group Play games will host the wild card team. In the event two or more teams are tied for the higher seed in a conference, the tie among the teams will be broken following the same tiebreaker protocol as described above.

During the Knockout Rounds on days when In-Season Tournament games are not scheduled (Wednesday, Dec. 6 and Friday, Dec. 8), the 22 teams that do not qualify for the Knockout Rounds will each play two regular-season games.

A formulaic approach will determine the matchups for these games using the Group Play standings in each conference (5th-15th). Two of the 22 games will be scheduled cross-conference since there will be an odd number of teams in each conference that do not advance to the Quarterfinals. These cross-conference games will be scheduled between bottom-finishing teams in the Group Play stage subject to travel constraints, and no team will play more than one of its two games cross-conference. The other 20 games will be scheduled within conference featuring teams that are otherwise scheduled to play each other three times over the course of the season wherever possible.

The four teams that lose in the Quarterfinals will each play a regular-season game on Friday, Dec. 8, against the opponent in their same conference.

For the 2023-24 season, the In-Season Tournament prize pool will be allocated to the players on the teams that participate in the Knockout Rounds, with allocations increasing depending on how far a team progresses in the tournament.

At the conclusion of the In-Season Tournament, the NBA will name the Most Valuable Player of the competition and the All-Tournament Team. Selection will be based on the players' performance in both Group Play and the Knockout Rounds.

JOE LACOB

JOE LACOB

Co-Executive Chairman & CEO

In his role as co-executive chairman & CEO, Joe Lacob is the managing member of the Golden State Warriors' ownership group. Beginning his 14th year in this capacity, he serves on the NBA Board of Governors and is a member of the league's Planning Committee and Labor Committee.

Under Lacob's guidance, the Warriors have achieved numerous milestones, established many NBA records and enjoyed one of the most successful decades in the history of the sport. The Warriors won four NBA championships (2015, 2017, 2018, 2022) in an eight-year span, joining the Boston Celtics, Chicago Bulls and Los Angeles Lakers as the only teams to accomplish this feat, while making six appearances in the NBA Finals over that period. With five consecutive Finals appearances from 2015-19, the Warriors joined the Celtics of the 1950s and 1960s as the only teams ever to do so. The Warriors matched the Celtics for the best-ever record over a six-season span in league history (373-119, .758) and, with three titles in four years, joined the Celtics, Bulls and Lakers as the only NBA franchises to win three championships in four seasons. Overall, the Warriors have advance to the NBA Finals in six of Lacob's 13 seasons.

In Lacob's fifth season as owner in 2014-15, the Warriors ended a 40-year championship drought (dating back to 1975) and followed that title-winning campaign by posting the best single-season record in NBA history in 2015-16 (73-9). From 2012-13 to 2018-19, the Warriors made seven consecutive playoff appearances, the longest postseason streak in franchise history. In fact, prior to those seven seasons, the club had only made the playoffs once in the previous 18 years.

The franchise's success in recent years has also extended to the business side. In December of 2019, the Warriors were named professional sports'"Franchise of the Decade" by the Sports Business Journal (SBJ), an award that encompasses all 123 teams in the NBA, NFL, MLB and NHL. The award-winning sports business publication also bestowed "Sports Team of the Year" honors to the Warriors in 2014 and 2016 in recognition of the organization's innovative and successful business practices. This marked the first time that any professional team had won this prestigious award more than once (the organization was also a finalist for the award in 2017 and 2018).

Additionally, under Lacob's leadership, the Warriors were named the winner of the Entrepreneurial Company of the Year (ENCORE) Award in 2016 by the Stanford University Graduate School of Business, recognizing the organization's entrepreneurial spirit in redefining sports management, pioneering the use of sports analytics in the NBA and adopting new technologies that have transformed the fan experience. The Warriors became the first sports organization to win the ENCORE Award, which has been presented annually since 1982 and recognizes companies from around the world, including such recent winners as Google (2004), Apple (2005) and Amazon (2010).

In addition to the Warriors' organization-wide honors, Lacob was named the 2016 recipient of the Sports Executive of the Year award by Sports Business Journal. He was also named one of the Bay Area's Most Admired CEOs by the San Francisco Business Times in November of 2015.

Since making a then-record-setting $450-million bid to purchase his hometown NBA club and assuming control of the team on November 12, 2010, Lacob has been the driving force behind many of the creative changes that have transpired with the organization, including several major announcements, prominent personnel additions and an emphasis on transparency. Additionally, since its inception in 2012, the revamped Warriors Community Foundation has awarded over $30 million in impact to the Bay Area, including over $15 million in yearly educational grants to various Bay Area organizations.

In October 2015, the Warriors completed the purchase of 12 acres of land in San Francisco's Mission Bay neighborhood and, in January 2017, broke ground on Chase Center, the team's 100% privately-financed, state-of-the-art sports and entertainment venue. Less than three years later, Chase Center celebrated its ribbon-cutting ceremony on September 3, 2019, and Lacob's vision of opening the doors to the first-ever arena in San Francisco became a reality. The dynamic 18,064-seat arena hosts Warriors basketball, concerts, cultural events, family shows, conventions and other activities, totaling over 150 events a year. Located in the heart of Mission Bay, the 11-acre district features two office buildings, 100,000 square feet of retail, close to 30 unique retail spaces and over three acres of publicly accessible plazas and open space. In September of 2020, after one year of operation, Chase Center was named "Sports Facility of the Year" by the Sports Business Journal.

During his first full off-season with the organization (summer of 2011), Lacob recruited two of the most experienced, successful and respected individuals in NBA circles to join the franchise, landing Hall of Famer and basketball icon Jerry West as an executive board member, and hiring longtime league and team executive—and 2018 Hall of Fame inductee—Rick Welts as president and chief operating officer. Additionally, Lacob played a significant role in the hiring of Bob Myers and Steve Kerr. A successful sports agent before joining the Warriors, Myers worked in the front office for 12 seasons, his last seven as the club's president of basketball operations/general manager. Former NBA player, TV color analyst, and Phoenix Suns General Manager, Kerr was hired as head coach in May 2014. Myers was named NBA Executive of the Year following the Warriors championship seasons of 2014-15 and 2016-17; Kerr was named NBA Coach of the Year following the 2015-16 season.

Lacob's NBA and professional sports experience dates back over two decades, including a five-year tenure as minority investor of the Boston Celtics, where he served on the basketball committee. He earned his first NBA championship ring in 2008 with the Celtics before selling his minority stake to purchase the Warriors.

In 1987, Lacob began his career at Kleiner Perkins Caufield & Byers, based in Menlo Park, Calif. Though still a strategic advisor to the firm, he relinquished his managing partner role in order to pursue his lifelong goal of owning and operating an NBA franchise. In his role as a venture capitalist, he led investments in over 50 start-up companies across multiple fields in life sciences and medical technologies, the internet and energy.

Lacob earned a bachelor's degree in Biological Sciences from the University of California-Irvine, a master's degree in Public Health (Epidemiology) from UCLA and an M.B.A. from the Stanford Graduate School of Business. He credits his master's degree in Epidemiology (biostatistics) with providing him a background in statistics that helped drive his passion for sports. It also played a role in his decision to invest in Sportsline—one of the first sports internet sites—and one of Lacob's earliest sports success stories. He was also a primary investor and pioneer of the American Basketball League, a professional women's basketball league that eventually succumbed to the WNBA. Lacob continues as one of the original partners in the Pebble Beach Company, an effort formed to bring the historic Pebble Beach resort and golf course back to long-term American ownership. Additionally, Lacob has been involved with Stanford basketball for over 30 years and is a fixture in his courtside seats at Maples Pavilion. Lacob currently serves on the Board of Directors of two public companies, Align Technology and NeuroPace, as well as several other privately-held companies.

In recent years, Lacob has been involved in industry organizations including the American Heart Association and the AHA Roundtable. He has also been very active at Stanford University, serving on advisory boards at the medical center, business school and athletic department. Lacob's philanthropic interests focus on education, both in the community and with universities. In 2014, he gifted $1 million to Washington University in St. Louis to establish a new Sports Management program at the Olin Business School. He has also provided scholarships to a number of high potential academic and athletic high school and college students in need, and has funded both a GSB professorship and the building of the Lacob Sports Medicine Center at Stanford.

An avid golfer, Lacob has been a longtime participant in the AT&T National Pro-Am at Pebble Beach. He plays in regular pick-up basketball games at least twice weekly at Stanford, doing so for the last 30-plus years.

PETER GUBER

Co-Executive Chairman

Peter Guber, a prominent figure in the sports and entertainment industry for more than 35 years, begins his 14th season as owner and co-executive chairman of the Golden State Warriors. Under his leadership since 2010, the Warriors have enjoyed immense success, highlighted by four NBA Championships (2015, 2017, 2018, 2022), six Western Conference titles (2015-2019, 2022) and the recording of the greatest single season record in NBA history (73-9 in 2015-16). Off the court, the Warriors were named "Franchise of the Decade" by the Sports Business Journal (SBJ) in December 2019, an award that encompasses all 123 teams in the NBA, NFL, MLB, and NHL. The award-winning sports business publication also bestowed "Sports Team of the Year" honors to the Warriors in 2014 and 2016 in recognition of the organization's innovative and successful business practices. This marked the first time that any professional team had won this prestigious award more than once (the organization was also a finalist for the award in 2017 and 2018).

In addition to the Warriors, Guber owns a wealth of experience in sports and location-based entertainment. One of his core principles is the importance of enhancing every aspect of the fan experience, from entrance to exit. With that philosophy as a driving force, on January 17, 2017, the Warriors broke ground on Chase Center, the organization's 100% privately financed, state-of-the-art sports and entertainment complex in San Francisco's Mission Bay neighborhood. Less than 32 months later, on September 6, 2019, Chase Center opened its doors, immediately becoming one of the crown jewels around the world, and the first-ever arena in the City of San Francisco. A year after its opening (September 2020), Chase Center was named "Sports Facility of the Year" by the Sports Business Journal.

One of the most successful executives and entrepreneurs in the entertainment and communications industries, Guber's impressive resume includes serving as the chairman & CEO of Sony Entertainment, president of Columbia Pictures, chairman and CEO of Polygram Entertainment and co-owner and co-chairman of Casablanca Record & Filmworks. Among the films he personally produced or executive produced are "Rain Man" (Academy Award – Best Picture), "Batman," "The Color Purple," "Midnight Express," "Gorillas in the Mist," "The Witches of Eastwick," "Missing" and "Flashdance." Guber's personal movies have earned more than $3 billion worldwide, while also garnering more than 50 Academy Award nominations.

Guber is the founder and CEO of Mandalay Entertainment, a visionary multimedia venture spanning movies, TV, sports, and digital media. Mandalay's feature films include "Soul Surfer," "The Kids Are All Right," "Bernie," "Donnie Brasco" and "Sleepy Hollow." Recently released theatrical films include "Surrounded" from MGM; "Heart of A Lion" which is the miraculous, emotional story of George Foreman overcoming all odds to reboot his life and regain his title of heavyweight boxing champion of the world at 46 years old; and "Air" from Amazon and MGM which stars Ben Affleck and Matt Damon and chronicles the sneaker wars involving Michael Jordan. "The Last Dance," a 10-part documentary which focused on Michael Jordan and the Chicago Bulls' 1997-98 championship run, was produced by Mandalay Sports Entertainment for ESPN, which Guber won the Emmy and the Producers Guild Award for Best Producer. Guber expanded Mandalay into a national entertainment sports provider, and he currently serves as Chairman of the Board of Directors.

Guber, together with Guggenheim Group and Magic Johnson, acquired the Los Angeles Dodgers in May 2012. Under their ownership, the franchise has won a Word Series (2020), captured nine National League West division titles (including eight consecutive from 2013-2020), and made three World Series appearances in a four-year span (2017, 2018, 2020). He joins Jerry Reinsdorf (Bulls, White Sox) as the only current owners to win both an NBA and MLB title.

In October of 2014, Guber became the owner and executive chairman of Major League Soccer's Los Angeles Football Club (LAFC), which made their debut in 2018 in the Banc of California Stadium, the first new open-air stadium built in the city of Los Angeles since Dodger Stadium in 1962. In 2018, LAFC accomplished the best regular season for an MLS expansion team, earning 57 points. The team then earned a record-breaking 72 points in 2019, winning their first major MLS trophy, the Supporter's Shield, and captured the Western Conference title before their season ended in the conference finals. LAFC appeared in the 2020 Concacaf Champions League, an international competition featuring the top clubs from North America, Central America and the Caribbean. LAFC was one of four US teams to qualify for the 16-team tournament.

Guber joins Ted Leonsis, Jeff Vinik and Bruce Karsh as one of four co-executive chairmen of aXiomatic, a broad-based esports and gaming company. The company has a majority stake in Team Liquid, a top esports team in the U.S. and Europe with 60 players competing in 14 games. Team Liquid's collective teams have won the most prize money in the history of esports while amassing trophies across different titles and different countries, including winning the 2017 DOTA 2 International Championships, which boasted the largest purse in esports history. Their League of Legends team has won four LCS titles, and their Counter-Strike Global Offensive team was awarded the Intel Grand Slam prize in 2019, a feat achieved in just four tournaments. aXiomatic also has stakes in esports companies Epic Games, ("Fortnite"), Niantic ("Pokemon GO"), Super League Gaming, Gamer Sensei and Bitkraft.

PETER GUBER

In June 2017, California Governor Jerry Brown appointed Guber to the prestigious position of Regent of the University of California. Additionally, Guber for more than 30 years, is a full professor at UCLA, teaching at the Anderson School of Management and the School of Theater, Film, Television and Digital Media. He is a member of the UCLA Foundation Board of Trustees, as well as the winner of UCLA's prestigious Service Award for his accomplishments in association with the school. Guber is the founding member of the Board of Advisors for the Center for Managing Enterprises in Media, Entertainment & Sports (MEMES) at the UCLA Anderson School of Management.

A noted author, Guber's third book, Tell To Win – Connect, Persuade, and Triumph with the Hidden Power of Story, was published by Crown Business and became an instant #1 New York Times, Amazon, and Wall Street Journal bestseller. The book is in its 18th printing.

Guber was recruited by Columbia Pictures out of NYU's Graduate School of Business, where he was pursuing an MBA. He also holds a BA, Master of Law and Juris Doctorate degrees. He received his honorary doctorate in Fine Arts from the University of Connecticut; was named Albert Gallatin Fellow at New York University; is a recipient of Syracuse University's George Arents Pioneer Award, the highest honor that can be given to an alumnus, for his distinguished work in film. In 2016, Guber was named Businessperson of the Year by the Los Angeles Business Journal.

On October 5, 2023, the Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA) announced that the Golden State Warriors have been awarded a WNBA expansion franchise, which will begin play in the 2025 WNBA season. The team will play home games at Chase Center in San Francisco and marks the WNBA's first expansion franchise since 2008. Fans who wish to buy season ticket memberships can do so by placing a deposit at wnba.com/goldenstate.

"The Bay Area is the perfect market for a WNBA team, and we are thrilled this opportunity has finally come to fruition," said Warriors Co-Executive Chairman & CEO Joe Lacob. "We have been interested in a WNBA franchise for several years, due in part to the rich history of women's basketball in the Bay Area, and believe now is the ideal time to execute that vision and build upon that legacy. The WNBA continues to solidify itself as the preeminent women's professional basketball league, and we look forward to supporting the best women's basketball players in the world and our team starting in 2025."

The Warriors' Oakland Facility, which served as the Golden State Warriors' practice facility and front office from 1997-2019, will be the WNBA team's headquarters, housing a world-class practice facility and the team's front office staff. The team's brand identity will be announced at a later date.

"We are thrilled about expanding to the Bay Area and bringing the WNBA to a region with passionate basketball fans and a strong history of supporting women's basketball," said WNBA Commissioner Cathy Engelbert. "Joe Lacob, Peter Guber and their leadership team know how to build and operate a world-class organization, as witnessed by the immense success the Warriors' franchise has enjoyed from both a business and basketball perspective over the last decade. Their interest in joining the WNBA family is yet another sign of the league's growth potential."

The 2023 WNBA regular season delivered record-breaking viewership, attendance and digital engagement as the league continues to drive business growth and results. The offseason featured the most-viewed WNBA Draft since 2004, followed by the most-watched regular season in 21 years.

MIKE DUNLEAVY

MIKE DUNLEAVY

General Manager

Mike Dunleavy begins his first season as general manager after being promoted on June 16, 2023. Dunleavy, 43, enters his sixth season in the Warriors front office, serving as vice president, basketball operations for the past two seasons after two years as assistant general manager. He originally joined the front office in 2018-19 as a pro scout following a 15-year playing career in the NBA that included four-plus seasons with the Warriors (2002-07).

Dunleavy was selected by the Warriors with the third overall pick in the 2002 NBA Draft and posted career averages of 11.2 points, 4.3 rebounds and 2.2 assists in 27.7 minutes over 986 regular season games with the Warriors, Indiana Pacers, Milwaukee Bucks, Chicago Bulls, Cleveland Cavaliers and Atlanta Hawks.

Prior to the NBA, Dunleavy spent three seasons playing under legendary coach Mike Krzyzewski at Duke University, where he was named Second Team All-American as a junior in 2001-02 and helped the Blue Devils to a national title in 2000-01. Duke posted a record of 95-13 (.880) in his three collegiate seasons, with Dunleavy compiling career averages of 13.2 points, 5.8 rebounds, 2.2 assists and 1.60 steals in 104 games.

Dunleavy and his wife, Sarah, have four children. His father, Mike Dunleavy Sr., is a former NBA player, coach and executive who played 11 seasons and spent 17 seasons as a head coach with the Los Angeles Lakers, Milwaukee Bucks, Portland Trail Blazers and Los Angeles Clippers.

KIRK LACOB

Executive Vice President, Basketball Operations/Vice President GSW Sports Ventures

Kirk Lacob begins his 14th season with the Golden State Warriors and his fifth as executive vice president, basketball operations. He served as assistant general manager of Golden State for each of the previous six seasons (2013-14 - 2018-19). He also continues to serve as vice president, GSW Sports Ventures, a position he has held for each of the past seven years.

As the executive vice president, basketball operations, Lacob reports directly to General Manager Mike Dunleavy Jr. and assists with all aspects of the team's day-to-day basketball operations.

As vice president, GSW Sports Ventures, Lacob oversees the team's continued efforts to develop partnerships for basketball operations and leading strategic investments for GSW. In addition, he continues to work with the organization's various esports teams.

Lacob joined the Warriors in October 2010 as the team's director of basketball operations. In that position he supported on a variety of front office roles, including player personnel evaluation, draft preparation and scouting, as well as helping to further the use of statistics and technologies in basketball operations. He also served two years (2011-13) as the team's player development representative with the league office, coordinating and implementing programs to aid in the overall development of players both on and off the court.

Additionally, Lacob served as the general manager of Golden State's NBA G League team for three seasons from 2011-12 to 2013-14 and played a vital role in the team's relocation to Santa Cruz from its former home in Bismarck, North Dakota, prior to the 2012-13 season. The transition proved to be an overwhelming success as the Santa Cruz Warriors appeared in the G League Finals in each of their first three seasons in Northern California and claimed the 2014-15 G League Championship. In 2013-14, Santa Cruz was named the league's Development Champion, an annual award recognizing the NBA G League team that best embodies the league's goals of developing NBA basketball talent via GATORADE Call-Ups and assignments.

A native of Woodside, Calif., Lacob graduated from Stanford University in 2010 with a degree in science, technology and society.

Lacob is active in local basketball leagues and on occasion plays at San Quentin State Penitentiary. He is a lifelong fan of the San Francisco 49ers, Oakland A's, San Francisco Giants, all things Stanford Cardinal and, most importantly, the Golden State Warriors.

LARRY HARRIS

Assistant General Manager / Director of Player Personnel

Larry Harris is entering his 16th season with the Golden State Warriors, and his seventh as assistant general manager/director of player personnel. In this role, Harris serves as one of the organization's key talent evaluators of players at both the professional and collegiate levels, assisting with the team's year-round preparation for the NBA draft, free agency and trades.

Harris, 60, originally joined the Warriors in 2008 as an assistant coach under Don Nelson before moving to the front office after one season on the bench. He then served as a basketball consultant/scout for six seasons prior to being promoted to Director of Player Personnel in 2015-16.

Prior to joining the Warriors, Harris spent 20 years with the Milwaukee Bucks, including stints as director of player personnel, director of scouting, assistant general manager and general manager. Harris' five-year tenure as general manager (2003-07) included a pair of postseason berths as well as the selection of Andrew Bogut with the first overall pick of the 2005 NBA Draft.

A native of Huntingburg, Ind., Harris played collegiately at Eastern New Mexico University. His father, Del Harris, is a longtime NBA coach and executive. Larry and his wife, Gail, currently reside in Gun Barrel City, Texas. He has two sons, Zach and Garrett, and three daughters, Janaya, Brooke, and Addison.

KENT LACOB

Vice President, Basketball Development

Kent Lacob is entering his first season as vice president, basketball development after serving as the team's executive director, team development for the previous two seasons. He was the director, team development for two seasons (2019-20 - 2020-21). Lacob was the general manager of the Golden State Warriors G League affiliate, the Santa Cruz Warriors, for three seasons.

In his three seasons with Santa Cruz, the Warriors compiled an 88-62 (.587) record and two postseason appearances. In 2018-19, the team featured future NBA players Kendrick Nunn, Damion Lee, Alen Smailagic and Juan Toscano-Anderson, capturing the Pacific Division and ranking first in points allowed per game (101.7 ppg). Lacob saw a team-record 24 players suit-up for Santa Cruz in 2017-18 after four Sea Dubs – Antonius Cleveland, Quinn Cook, Lee and Georges Niang – earned midseason GATORADE Call-Ups. In 2016-17, Lacob orchestrated five trades across his first season to acquire guards Phil Pressey, Alex Hamilton and Jabari Brown, who were instrumental in the Warriors 31-19 record and return to the NBA G League Playoffs.

Previously, Lacob served as Golden State's coordinator of basketball operations during the team's 73-win season in 2015-16. In his first season with the Warriors organization, Lacob contributed to the team's scouting department, prepared for the 2016 NBA Draft, supported analytics projects and led efforts to incorporate wearable technology.

Originally from Woodside, Calif., Lacob attended Washington University in St. Louis, where he played guard for the men's basketball team and was named captain of the Bears in his senior season. He graduated in 2015 with a degree in philosophy-neuroscience-psychology and a minor in commercial entrepreneurship.

JONNIE WEST

Director, Pro Personnel

Jonnie West enters his 12th season with the Warriors organization and his third as the team's director, pro personnel after serving as the director of basketball operations the previous three seasons.

West was the Golden State Warriors director of player programs for three seasons after spending two seasons as associate general manager of Golden State's G League affiliate, the Santa Cruz Warriors. At Santa Cruz, he helped assemble a roster that won the 2014-15 G League championship. He originally joined the Warriors in 2012-13 as Santa Cruz's director of basketball operations and assisted with personnel and advance scouting duties.

Before joining the Warriors, West worked at Wasserman Media Group, where he assisted with NBA free agency and draft preparation. West played collegiately for four seasons at West Virginia University, making four NCAA appearances with the Mountaineers—including a trip to the Final Four in 2010. Jonnie's father, Jerry West, is an NBA Hall of Famer and longtime NBA executive.

West and wife, Michelle, have a daughter, Makenna.

ONSI SALEH

Vice President, Basketball Strategy & Team Counsel

Onsi Saleh is entering his first season as Vice President, Basketball Strategy & Team Counsel with the Warriors, after serving as Golden State's Director of Basketball Strategy & Team Counsel (2022-23) and Basketball Strategy/Assistant team Counsel (2021-22) over his first two seasons with the organization. Prior to his time with the Warriors, he spent five years with the San Antonio Spurs in various roles, lastly as the club's director of strategy & process/chief of staff.

A native of Edmonton, Alberta, Saleh graduated from the University of Alberta with a bachelor's degree in biological sciences and an after-degree in history, before attending Tulane University Law School and graduating with a Doctor of Law (JD) in 2017. Prior to joining the Spurs organization, he served as a legal clerk for the 22nd Judicial District Court of Louisiana and an intake specialist with the Louisiana Civil Justice Center.

WARRIORS BASKETBALL EXECUTIVES

CHUCK HAYES

Director, Basketball Operations

Chuck Hayes enters his first season as director, basketball operations with the Warriors after spending the previous six seasons working in the Houston Rockets Front Office.

Prior to his time with the Rockets, Hayes spent one season as a player development coach with the Denver Nuggets.

Undrafted after a four-year collegiate career at Kentucky, Hayes played in the NBA for 11 seasons with the Rockets, Sacramento Kings, and Toronto Raptors. The forward owns career averages of 3.7 points, 5.0 rebounds, 1.2 assists and 18.3 minutes in 644 games (244 starts).

A Bay Area Native, Hayes grew up in Oakland and went to high school in Modesto Christian High School (Modesto, Calif.).

PABAIL SIDHU

Vice President, Basketball Analytics & Innovation

Pabail Sidhu is entering his seventh season overall with the Warriors organization, his first as Vice President, Basketball Analytics and Innovation. Sidhu most recently held the title Executive Director, Basketball Analytics and Innovation and before that Director, Basketball Analytics and Innovation.

Prior to his time with the Warriors, Sidhu was Director, Basketball and Football Strategy at the University of Washington. In that role, Sidhu worked closely with the coaches, to aid in game planning, scouting, recruiting and overall strategies to help advance the program and assisted with individual player performance tracking.

Sidhu is a graduate of the University of Washington's Michael G. Foster School of Business.

COACHING & SUPPORT STAFF

STEVE KERR
Head Coach

Entering his 10th season as the head coach of the Golden State Warriors, Steve Kerr has guided the club through its most prolific seasons in NBA history with a list of accomplishments that includes four NBA championships (2015, 2017, 2018, 2022), six NBA Finals appearances (including five-straight from 2015-2019), the NBA's single-season wins record (73), an NBA Coach of the Year award (2015-16), and five of the six winningest seasons in franchise history. He owns an overall playoff record of 99-41 (.707), the highest winning percentage among NBA head coaches all-time that have coached a minimum of 25 postseason games.

Named the 2022-24 USA Basketball Men's National Team head coach, Kerr coached the US squad at the 2023 FIBA World Cup and will lead the team in the 2024 Summer Olympic Games scheduled for July 26-August 11 in Paris, France. Kerr was an assistant coach for the 2017-21 USA Basketball Men's National Team and was part of Gregg Popovich's coaching staff for the 2020 Summer Olympic Games in Tokyo, Japan, and the 2019 USA National Team that competed in the FIBA World Cup in China. By helping the USA claim gold at the 2020 Tokyo Olympics, Kerr became the first USA Basketball National Team coach to also have earned a gold medal as a player in a FIBA senior level competition, having won gold at the 1986 World Cup.

Kerr, who won five NBA championships during a 15-year playing career, now owns nine championships as either a player or coach, becoming the first to win at least three NBA titles as a player and three as a coach. Kerr is just the third coach in NBA history to win three championships in his first four seasons at the helm, joining Phil Jackson (1991, 1992, 1993) and John Kundla (1949, 1950, 1952) as the only coaches to do so.

With Kerr at the helm, the Warriors became the first team in NBA history to win at least 65 games in three consecutive campaigns (67 victories in 2014-15, 73 in 2015-16, and 67 in 2016-17). Golden State's success also extended to the postseason. The Warriors became the fourth franchise to win three-or-more titles in the span of four seasons, joining the Boston Celtics (1959-69), Chicago Bulls (1991-93, 1996-98) and Los Angeles Lakers (1949-54, 1985-88, 2000-02). In the 2017 postseason, Golden State posted a 16-1 (.941) record, the best single-season playoff record in league history that included a playoff-record 15-game win streak.

In 2014-15, Kerr engineered the most successful campaign of any first-year coach in NBA history en route to Golden State's first title in 40 years, posting a then-franchise-record 67 victories and establishing NBA records for most wins and highest winning percentage (67-15, .817) by a first-year head coach. The Warriors saw a 16-game improvement in 2014-15 over the previous season (51-31 in 2013-14), an NBA record for the biggest improvement by a 50-win team in league history. Kerr followed his inaugural campaign by winning the 2015-16 NBA Coach of the Year Award for leading the Warriors to an NBA-record 73 regular-season wins in 2015-16 (73-9, .890), eclipsing the previous mark of 72 set by a Chicago Bulls squad in 1995-96 that featured Kerr in a reserve role. In addition to the single-season wins record, the Warriors set new league marks for single-season road wins (34), consecutive wins to begin a season (24) and consecutive regular-season home wins (54).

Originally named to the position on May 19, 2014, Kerr is the 25th head coach in franchise history and the 20th since the team moved to the West Coast in 1962. He is the fourth Warriors coach to win an NBA title, joining Eddie Gottlieb (1947), George Senesky (1956) and Alvin Attles (1975). He is also just the third coach in franchise history to be named Coach of the Year, joining Alex Hannum (1963-64) and Don Nelson (1991-92). Twice Kerr and his coaching staff were named to coach the Western Conference All-Star Team (2015, 2017).

Kerr owns 35 years of NBA experience as a player (15), coach (nine), television analyst (eight) and front office executive (three). As president of basketball operations and general manager of the Phoenix Suns (2007-10), the club posted a 155-91 (.630) record and earned a pair of playoff berths, including a trip to the 2010 Western Conference Finals.

STEVE KERR

Having been on teams that made the playoffs in 13 of his 15 seasons, while playing in 11 of those (missed other two due to injury), Kerr is one of only 26 players in NBA history to win five championships, earning three rings with Chicago and two with San Antonio. A key reserve for Chicago during the team's three-peat championship run from 1996-98, Kerr famously hit the game-winning, title-clinching shot in Game 6 of the 1997 NBA Finals. He won his fourth consecutive championship in 1999 with the San Antonio Spurs to become one of only two non-Boston Celtics to win four-straight NBA titles (joining Frank Saul, 1951-54). His fifth ring came in his second stint with the Spurs during his final NBA campaign in 2002-03.

The NBA's all-time three-point percentage leader, having converted on 45.4 percent (726-of-1599) of his attempts from long range, Kerr amassed career averages of 6.0 points, 1.8 assists and 1.2 rebounds in 910 regular-season games with the Phoenix Suns, Cleveland Cavaliers, Orlando Magic, Chicago Bulls, San Antonio Spurs (twice) and Portland Trail Blazers.

Kerr was originally selected by the Phoenix Suns in the second round (50th overall) of the 1988 NBA Draft out of the University of Arizona, where he capped his collegiate career as a senior in 1988 by helping lead the Wildcats to their first Final Four appearance. An All-Pac 10 guard in both 1986 and 1988, he remains the school's career leader in three-point field goal percentage (57.3 percent).

During his playing career, Kerr played for some of the most successful coaches in the history of the game, including Phil Jackson, Popovich, Lenny Wilkens, Cotton Fitzsimmons and Lute Olson. Born in Beirut, Lebanon, and raised in Pacific Palisades, Calif., Kerr was a ballboy in 1978 and 1979 at UCLA, where his late father, Malcolm, was a professor.

As a broadcaster, Kerr has served two different four-year stints as a game analyst on TNT's award-winning NBA coverage. In addition to a full slate of regular-season games, he also worked TNT's marquee events, including the NBA All-Star Game, playoffs and conference finals. During his most recent stint in broadcasting, beginning in 2010, Kerr also served as an analyst for NCAA Tournament and Final Four coverage on Turner Sports and CBS.

Kerr earned a degree in general studies from Arizona with an emphasis in history, sociology and English in 1988. He is an advocate for commonsense gun safety laws, supporting such organizations as the Brady campaign, Sandy Hook Promise, March For Our Lives, and Giffords. Kerr also helps fundraise for Oakland Promise, an initiative launched by Mayor Libby Schaaf and the Oakland Unified School District in 2016 that aims to triple the number of Oakland high school graduates who complete college by the year 2024. In October 2014, Steve and Margot Kerr committed $1 million to the University of Arizona to assist with the McKale Memorial Center renovation and future academic facility enhancements.

Born on September 27, 1965, Steve and his wife, Margot, have two sons, Nicholas and Matthew, and one daughter, Madeleine. Nicholas received his degree from the University of San Diego in 2015 and completed his graduate studies at the University of California, Berkeley, where he played as a walk-on for the Bears' basketball team for one season. Nicholas is the head coach for the Warriors G League affiliate Santa Cruz Warriors, after serving as an assistant video coordinator for Golden State in 2020-21 and as an assistant coach at Santa Cruz last season. Madeleine received her law degree from UC Berkeley, where she was a member of the volleyball team, and is now a lawyer in San Francisco. Matthew is a graduate of the USC School of Cinematic Arts and has written for such TV shows as 'Ted Lasso' and 'Clone High.'

RON ADAMS

Assistant Coach

Ron Adams begins his 10th season as an assistant coach for the Golden State Warriors and his 30th season overall on the bench as an NBA assistant. Upon joining the Warriors, Adams guided the team's defense to a top four ranking in defensive rating in each of his first four years. Adams helped Golden State to five consecutive NBA Finals appearances (2015-19) and four NBA titles (2015, 2017, 2018, 2022). For five consecutive seasons, from 2014-15 to 2018-19, Adams was voted the Best Assistant Coach in the NBA's annual GM survey. In July 2022, Adams was named the recipient of the 2022 Tex Winter Assistant Coach Lifetime Impact Award, presented by the National Basketball Coaches Association (NBCA).

Adams, 75, joined the Warriors at the start of the 2014-15 season following a one-year stretch on Brad Stevens' staff with the Boston Celtics (2013-14). Prior to working in Boston, he spent the previous three seasons on Tom Thibodeau's staff in his second stint with the Chicago Bulls (2010-13). The Bulls made the playoffs in each of those three campaigns, including a trip to the 2011 Eastern Conference Finals.

Adams' NBA coaching resume also includes stops with the Oklahoma City Thunder (2008-2010), his first stint with the Chicago Bulls (2003-08), Milwaukee Bucks (1998-2003), Philadelphia 76ers (1994-96) and San Antonio Spurs (1992-94). During his time as an assistant coach, Adams has made 17 appearances in the NBA Playoffs. In addition to his coaching roles, the Laton, Calif., native also served as a player personnel scout for the Portland Trail Blazers from 1996-98.

Before joining the NBA, Adams coached collegiately for 20 years with head coaching roles at Fresno State (1986-90) and his alma mater, Fresno Pacific (1972-75). He also served as an assistant coach at U.S. International, UC Santa Barbara, UNLV and at both Fresno schools. Additionally, Adams has coached professionally in Belgium and Japan, as well as for the Canadian national team.

Adams and his wife, Leah, have a daughter, Hayley, and a son, Jerid.

KENNY ATKINSON

Assistant Coach

Kenny Atkinson enters his third season with the Warriors after helping the team win the 2022 NBA Championship. Before joining the Warriors, Atkinson spent the 2020-21 season as an assistant coach with the Los Angeles Clippers. Previously, Atkinson spent three-plus seasons as head coach of the Brooklyn Nets, finishing his tenure in Brooklyn ranked third in franchise history in games coached (308) and fourth in wins (118).

Before being named the 21st head coach in Nets NBA history on April 17, 2016, Atkinson served four seasons as an assistant coach with the Atlanta Hawks (2012-16), four seasons as an assistant coach with the New York Knicks (2008-12) and one season as the director of player development for the Houston Rockets (2007-08). The teams Atkinson were on qualified for the postseason 10 times and advanced to the conference finals three times (Hawks, 2015; Clippers, 2021; Warriors, 2022).

After Brooklyn posted a 20-62 record in his first season at the helm, Atkinson led the Nets to a 28-54 record in his second campaign in the 2017-18 season. In 2018-19, Atkinson directed Brooklyn to a 42-40 record, while the Nets' earned their first postseason berth since 2015. The 14-win improvement represented the third-biggest increase in wins from 2017-18 to 2018-19 among all NBA teams, and Brooklyn's third straight season improving its win-loss record marked the first time the Nets had done so in three or more consecutive seasons since 1990-94 (franchise-record four straight seasons).

While with the Hawks, Atkinson served on the 2015 Eastern Conference All-Star coaching staff, helping guide Team World to a 121-112 win over Team USA in the BBVA Compass Rising Stars Challenge during All-Star weekend in New York.

Born in Huntington, and a native of Northport, New York, Atkinson has also held various coaching positions abroad, serving as director of player development/assistant coach for Paris Basket Racing Club in France (2004-06), director of player development/assistant coach for the national team of the Republic of Georgia in the summer of 2006, assistant coach with the Ukraine national team at the European championships in 2011 and head coach of the Dominican Republic national team in the 2015 FIBA Americas Championship in Mexico City. Most recently, Atkinson participated in Basketball Without Borders Africa 2019 in Senegal.

Prior to beginning his coaching career, Atkinson played professionally for 14 years (1990-2004), beginning his pro career in the CBA and USBL before competing for teams in France, Germany, Italy, Netherlands and Spain. A standout collegiate player at the University of Richmond, Atkinson earned All-CAA First Team honors as a junior and senior and helped lead the Spiders to a Sweet 16 appearance in the NCAA Tournament in 1988. He was also selected as the 1987 CAA Rookie of the Year. Atkinson was inducted into the University of Richmond Hall of Fame in 2010.

Atkinson and his wife, Laura, have a son, Anthony, and a daughter, Annika.

CHRIS DeMARCO

Assistant Coach

Chris DeMarco begins his 12th season with the Golden State Warriors and his ninth as assistant coach. DeMarco helped the Warriors capture four championships (2015, 2017, 2018, 2022) in eight seasons. His current responsibilities include working with the team's players on individual skill development as well as game planning and scouting preparation for upcoming opponents.

Prior to his current role, DeMarco, 37, served as the team's advance scout/video scout during Golden State's championship season in 2014-15. He originally joined the Warriors prior to the 2012-13 campaign as a video intern and was promoted to assistant video coordinator for the 2013-14 season.

A native of Appleton, Wis., DeMarco is currently the Bahamas National Team head coach. In August 2023, he coached the team to the country's biggest win in the sport's history, defeating host team Argentina, 82-75, in their 2024 Olympic Pre-Qualifying Tournament final. The victory earned the Bahamas a spot in one of next summer's qualifying tournaments for the 2024 Paris Summer Olympics.

At Dominican University of California in San Rafael, DeMarco played collegiatelyand received his MBA in global management. He currently lives in San Rafael.

BRUCE FRASER

Assistant Coach

Bruce Fraser begins his 10th season on the Golden State Warriors coaching staff, helping the Warriors earn four NBA Championships (2015, 2017, 2018, 2022) and five consecutive NBA Finals appearances (2015-19). In his role as an assistant coach, he oversees all aspects of the players' skill and strategic development, and also prepares team and player scouting reports for upcoming opponents.

Fraser, 58, coached at both the college and professional levels prior to joining the Warriors, having worked at the University of Arizona under Lute Olson (1987-90), the University of Missouri under Quin Snyder (1999-2000) and the Indiana Pacers under Larry Brown (1994-95). Additionally, he served as a scout for the Phoenix Suns from 2004-10.

The Long Beach, Calif., native was a teammate of Warriors Head Coach Steve Kerr at the University of Arizona, where Fraser played from 1983-87.

DEJAN MILOJEVIĆ

Assistant Coach

Dejan Milojević (DAY-hahn mi-lo-yo-vihch) begins his third season as an assistant coach with the Warriors after helping the team win the 2022 NBA Championship. Before joining the Warriors, Milojević spent the 2021 season as head coach of KK Budućnost in the Adriatic League in Montenegro.

Prior to KK Budućnost, Milojević served as the head coach for KK Mega Basket in Belgrade, Serbia, for eight seasons (2012-20). In December 2019, he was named an assistant coach for the Serbian national team under Igor Kokoškov. Milojević was a member of the Atlanta Hawks Summer League staff in 2016, the San Antonio Spurs in 2017 and the Houston Rockets in 2018.

A native of Belgrade, Milojević enjoyed a 14-year international playing career and was named the Adriatic League Most Valuable Player three times (2004-06).

KRIS WEEMS

Assistant Coach

Kris Weems is entering his 10th season overall with the Warriors organization, his first as an assistant coach after serving as a player development coach on Steve Kerr's staff for the previous two seasons. During the 2019-20 and 2020-21 seasons, Weems was the head coach of the Santa Cruz Warriors, owning an overall record of 32-25 (.561). He spent two seasons as an assistant coach in Santa Cruz from 2017-19.

In his second stint in the Warriors organization, Weems previously served as a player development coach and scout for three seasons (2011-14), which included two postseason appearances (2013 and 2014).

Before joining the Santa Cruz Warriors, Weems spent three years as director of athletics for the Menlo School in Atherton, California from 2014-17. He spent seven seasons as the head boys basketball coach at Menlo (2004-11), leading his teams to seven Central Coast Section postseason appearances, five league championships and three appearances in the Northern California bracket of the CIF State Championships.

Before his coaching career, Weems attended Stanford University, where he led the Cardinal to four consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances and a trip to the 1998 Final Four and a PAC-10 championship in 1999. After earning his degree in sociology, Weems played one season professionally with Hapoel-Tel Aviv in Israel before returning to the Bay Area to work for Stanford's athletic department for six years.

Weems also served as a college basketball analyst with Comcast SportsNet Bay Area (now NBC Sports Bay Area) for two seasons, providing color commentary for Pac-10 and West Coast Conference telecasts. A Kansas City, Kansas native, Weems and his wife Neda have two daughters, Aaliyah and Kiyana.

HILTON ARMSTRONG

Player Development Coach

Hilton Armstrong begins his second season as a player development coach and third overall with the Warriors. Armstrong served as an assistant video coordinator on the 2021-22 championship team.

Armstrong was selected by the New Orleans Pelicans with the 12th overall pick in the 2006 NBA Draft after a four-year collegiate career at the University of Connecticut. Armstrong appeared in 292 games (40 starts) over six seasons with the Pelicans, Sacramento Kings, Houston Rockets, Washington Wizards, Atlanta Hawks and Golden State Warriors. He played two seasons with the Warriors G-League affiliate, the Santa Cruz Warriors, earning All G-League 2nd Team and 2nd Team All G-League Defensive honors during the 2013-14 season. The forward also played internationally in France, Greece, Turkey, Japan, and Israel.

KLINT CARLSON

Player Development Coach

Klint Carlson enters his first season as player development coach and second overall with Golden State. Carlson served as co-head video coordinator/player development during the 2022-23 season, his first with the club. Prior to joining the Warriors, Carlson spent two seasons (2020-21 and 2021-22) with the Charlotte Hornets as a video intern and assistant video coordinator.

The Waverly, Iowa native played collegiately at the University of Northern Iowa from 2014-15 to 2017-18, before graduating with a degree in movement and exercise science and sports psychology. He signed with BK Děčín of the Czech National basketball League in 2018, and spent two seasons with the club prior to joining the Hornets.

JACOB RUBIN

Player Development Coach

Jacob Rubin is entering his ninth season with the Warriors and his third season as a player development coach. His current responsibilities include working with the team's players on individual skill development as well as game planning and scouting preparation for upcoming opponents. He served as the head coach of the 2023 Warriors Summer League team.

Rubin previously served as the team's co-video coordinator/player development coach during the 2020-21 season, assistant video coordinator from 2018-20, and as a video intern during the team's 2017 NBA championship. Prior to joining Golden State, Rubin spent two seasons with the Santa Cruz Warriors, where he was manager of basketball operations in 2016-17 and a basketball operations coordinator in 2015-16.

Before joining Santa Cruz, Rubin was a team sports management intern with the Wasserman Media Group from 2010-14. He attended the University of Arizona and owns a bachelor's degree in business management from the Eller College of Management.

Rubin and his wife Alex reside in San Francisco.

WARRIORS COACHING STAFF

ANTHONY VEREEN

Player Development Coach

Anthony Vereen enters his second season as a player development coach with the Golden State Warriors after spending the previous five seasons with the Santa Cruz Warriors, his last three as an assistant coach. He has also been involved with player development the last four years, working with over 50 current and former NBA players. A three-year NBA G League veteran, Vereen joined the Santa Cruz Warriors staff as a coaching coordinator for the 2017-18 season.

Vereen led the 2020-21 Sea Dubs to the semifinals of the 2020-21 NBA G League single site after earning an 11-4 regular season record. As defensive coordinator, Vereen helped Santa Cruz finish the season ranked second in overall defensive rating. In the 2019-20 season, Vereen coached five players to GATORADE Call-ups to Golden State.

Originally from Hammond, Louisiana, Vereen attended the University of Texas at Arlington where he played basketball for four years leaving as the school's 2nd all-time scorer (1,447 points). In his 2007-08 junior season, Vereen led UT-Arlington to the school's first Southland conference championship with a 21-12 record and the first trip to the NCAA Men's Basketball Tournament in school history.

Vereen enjoyed a seven-year playing career oversees, spending time in Spain, Finland and China, as well as one season with the 2011-12 Texas Legends. Vereen played 74 games for the Santa Cruz Warriors from 2014-16, capturing his first league title as a member of the 2014-15 Santa Cruz Warriors championship team.

WARRIORS PERFORMANCE STAFF

DR. RICK CELEBRINI

VP, Player Health and Performance

Dr. Rick Celebrini, a sports and orthopedic physiotherapist, begins his sixth season with the Warriors, second as the team's VP, Player Health and Performance. His first three seasons he was Golden State's director of sports medicine and performance.

Before joining Golden State, he spent the previous eight years as head of sports medicine and science for Major League Soccer's Vancouver Whitecaps FC. Additionally, Celebrini served four years as director of rehabilitation for the NHL's Vancouver Canucks, a franchise he joined as a consultant in 2014. He was also the chief sport officer and co-founder of Fortius Sport and Health, an athlete development center located in British Columbia.

As a therapist and consultant, Celebrini has worked with the Dallas Mavericks, the NFL's Seattle Seahawks, the Canadian Alpine Ski Team, Canadian Soccer Association and the NHL Players Association. In 2010, Celebrini served as chief therapist at the Vancouver Winter Olympics and Paralympics and was the manager of medical services for the Vancouver Organizing Committee for the 2010 Olympic and Paralympic Winter Games (VANOC).

A native of Burnaby, British Columbia, Celebrini is a former professional soccer player and represented the Canadian National Team in the 1987 FIFA U-20 World Cup in Chile and the PanAm games in Indianapolis. He graduated with a degree in physical therapy from the University of British Columbia (UBC) in 1992 and, in 2011, received his PhD in rehabilitation sciences from the faculty of medicine at UBC. He recently received a Doctor of Letters, honoris causa from Capilano University.

DREW YODER

Director, Medical Services

Drew Yoder begins his 11th season with the Golden State Warriors, his third as director, medical services.

Yoder was the team's head athletic trainer for six seasons after serving as the team's assistant athletic trainer in his first two seasons. During the summer of 2018, he served as the athletic trainer for the NBA's Basketball Without Borders in Europe.

Yoder, 37, joined the Warriors from Southern Methodist University, where he served as an assistant athletic trainer for three years. While interning at SMU in 2010, Yoder gained NBA experience working with the athletic training staff of the Dallas Mavericks.

The Mount Ayr, Iowa, native earned his bachelor's degree in athletic training from Kansas State University and his Master of Education degree from the University of Missouri, where he worked as a graduate assistant for the football and golf programs for two seasons.

Yoder and wife Cora reside in Daly City with daughter Elli.

MICHAEL POTENZA

Director, Performance

Mike Potenza enters his second season as director, performance with the Warriors after 16 seasons as the San Jose Sharks strength and conditioning coordinator. At San Jose, Potenza was responsible for the team's overall strength and conditioning programs -- including the physical testing and evaluation at training camp, creation of individualized postseason workout programs and assistance in the rehabilitation efforts for all injured players.

Prior to that, Potenza served as the strength and conditioning coach for the University of Wisconsin men's and women's hockey teams, both of which were 2006 NCAA National Champions. He also had responsibilities with the wrestling and softball programs at Wisconsin.

A 2000 Springfield College graduate, Potenza earned his Bachelor of Science degree in applied exercise science. He later earned a master's degree from Boston University in human movement science. Potenza has held notable positions at Harvard and Colgate Universities. He assisted and supervised all phases of strength training programs for all intercollegiate programs at Harvard and Colgate and held primary coaching responsibilities with football, men's and women's hockey, men's and women's basketball, lacrosse and field hockey.

Potenza, his wife Bonnie have three children (Griffin, Natalie and Luca).

KYLE BARBOUR

Head Performance Coach

Kyle Barbour is entering his 13th year with the Warriors organization and his second as head performance coach. Previously, Barbour was the team's assistant performance coach during the 2021-22 season and the performance coach the previous four seasons.

Barbour spent four seasons as the athletic performance coach for the Santa Cruz Warriors after serving two seasons as the assistant athletic performance coach for the Golden State Warriors. He is a certified strength and conditioning specialist (CSCS) and registered strength and conditioning coach (RSCC) by the National Strength and Conditioning Association.

Previously, Barbour worked in professional baseball as a strength and conditioning coach in the Arizona Diamondbacks organization and with the MLB International Envoy program, overseeing the development of strength and conditioning programs in Italy, the Netherlands, and Sweden. He also spent time at the collegiate level working as a strength and conditioning intern/coach at the University of Notre Dame.

Barbour is a native of San Diego and earned his Bachelor's in Kinesiology with an emphasis in fitness, nutrition and health from San Diego State University and a Master's in Kinesiology from California State University East Bay.

Kyle, his wife Nicole and daughter, Sophia currently reside in the East Bay.

ERIC HOUSEN

Vice President, Team Operations

Eric Housen begins his 37th season with the Warriors organization, and his fourth as vice president, team operations after serving as director of team operations for the previous nine seasons. His current responsibilities include overseeing the team's equipment needs, travel arrangements, security and kitchen staff.

Housen is in charge of ordering and maintaining all of the team's basketball related equipment at home and on the road, as well as at the team's practice facility. He also oversees two full-time assistants and a staff of 10 ball boys for all of the team's home games.

Along with handling the Warriors' equipment needs, Housen also coordinates all of the travel and lodging arrangements throughout the season for the team's 60-person travel party. Additionally, Housen plans the menus and orders all of the meals that are made available to the players and basketball staff.

Housen, 46, began his career with the Warriors as a ball boy during the 1985-86 season as a sixth-grader, serving in that capacity for six years before being promoted to assistant equipment manager in 1991-92. After an additional six years in that role, he took a one-year hiatus in Indiana and returned to Golden State to serve one more season as assistant equipment manager in 1998-99 before being promoted to equipment manager for the 1999-00 campaign. He was the team's equipment manager for 12 years (1999-2011) prior to being promoted to Director of Team Operations.

He resides in Alameda, Calif., with his wife, Codi, and their daughter Sadie Beau, along with their two dogs, Blue and Goose.

ZAZA PACHULIA

Liaison, Basketball & Business

Zaza Pachulia is entering his fifth season, and his third as liaison, basketball and business, working on both the business and basketball sides for the Golden State Warriors after enjoying a 16-year NBA playing career with the Warriors, Orlando Magic, Milwaukee Bucks, Atlanta Hawks, Dallas Mavericks and Detroit Pistons. Pachulia's title the last two seasons was consultant.

Pachulia, a member of the Warriors' 2017 and 2018 Championship teams, was originally selected by Orlando with 42nd overall pick in the 2003 NBA Draft, and averaged 6.8 points, 5.8 rebounds and 1.3 assists in 20.3 minutes per game over 1,098 career appearances. He is the only player from the Republic of Georgia to win an NBA Championship.

The Tbilisi, Georgia native has received numerous awards and honors in Georgia including: the Key to the City of Tbilisi from the Mayor in 2015, Medal of Honor from the President of Georgia in 2017 and the Sports Knight title from the Prime Minister in 2018.

Following his playing career, he has begun pursuing higher education business classes at both Harvard University and Stanford University. He is also an entrepreneur and investor in technology, real estate and hospitality industries as well as the founder of the Zaza Pachulia Basketball Academy in the Republic of Georgia. He is the owner of BC Dinamo Tbilisi, a professional basketball club that is based in Tbilisi and plays in the Georgian Superliga. Pachulia is fluent in Georgian, English, Turkish and Russian.

Pachulia and his wife Tika, have four children and reside in the Bay Area.

- Grabbed 10-or-more rebounds in one game.
- Recorded two double-doubles (5/4, 5/8) and one triple-double (5/8).
- On 4/17 at Sacramento (First Round, Game 2), moved into 18th on NBA Playoffs all-time points list, passing Wilt Chamberlain (3,607) and Elgin Baylor (3,623).
- On 4/20 vs. Sacramento (First Round, Game 3), scored a game-high 36 points (3,664 career), moving into 16th place on NBA Playoffs all-time points scored list, passing Scottie Pippen (3,642) and Dirk Nowitzki (3,663).
- On 4/30 at Sacramento (First Round, Game 7), tallied a playoff career-high 50 points (20-38 FG, 7-18 3P, 3-5 FT), the player to score 50 points in a Game 7 in NBA history (Two weeks later Boston's Jayson Tatum tallied 51 in a Game 7 win on 5/14/23 vs. Philadelphia). This was the eighth time Curry scored at least 40 points in the playoff game, tying Rick Barry for the second-most in franchise history, trailing only Wilt Chamberlain (10). Curry is the fifth Warrior to score at least 50 points in a playoff game, joining Wilt Chamberlain (four times), Rick Barry, Sleepy Floyd, Kevin Durant. Curry is the first player with 50 points and zero or one turnover (he had one) in a series-clinching win since individual turnovers were tracked in 1977-78. He is the oldest player (35) to score 30-or-more points in a Game 7 in NBA history.
- On 5/6 at L.A. Lakers, recorded third career playoff triple-double, first of this year, with a game-high 31 points, 10 rebounds and 14 assists along with three steals. With 3,907 career playoff points, moved into 12th on NBA Playoffs all-time points scored list, passing Larry Bird (3,897).

WARRIORS 2022-23 SUPERLATIVES

BASKETBALL

- 37: The Warriors made their 37th playoff appearance in franchise history and the ninth in the last 11 years.
- 33: Golden State won 33 games at Chase Center during the 2022-23 regular season, the third-most home wins behind only Memphis (35) and Denver (34).
- 28: The Warriors won at least one road game in each of the last 28 playoff series, an NBA-record streak that began with a road win in Denver in the First Round of the 2013 NBA Playoffs (131-117 on April 23, 2013) and ended in the 2023 NBA Playoffs Semifinals against the Lakers.
- 19: The Warriors won 19 consecutive playoff series against conference teams (2015-2023), the longest such streak since the NBA instituted Western and Eastern Conferences in 1970-71. The streak ended when the Lakers defeated the Warriors, 4-2, in the 2023 Western Conference Semifinals.
- 301: Klay Thompson led the NBA in 2022-23 with a single-season career-high 301 3-pointers, becoming the third player in NBA history to make at least 300 3-pointers in a single season, joining Stephen Curry (four times) and James Harden (once).
- 274: Kevon Looney grabbed a single-season career high and league-leading 274 offensive rebounds. Looney became the first Warrior to lead the NBA in offensive rebounds since Erick Dampier had 344 offensive rebounds in 2003-04.
- 245: Stephen Curry extended his NBA-record 3-point streak to 245 consecutive regular season games. This streak began on Dec. 1, 2018 at Detroit.
- 82: For the second-straight season Kevon Looney played in all 82 regular season contests, joining Mikal Bridges as the only players to play at least that many games in the last two seasons. Looney is the 10th Warriors player to play at least 82 games in two-or-more consecutive seasons and the last to do so since Antawn Jamison had three consecutive seasons (2000-01 -- 2002-03).
- 349: The Warriors scored 349 points off of Kevon Looney's league-leading 274 offensive rebounds, the most points scored off of a player's offensive boards in 2022-23.
- 788: Stephen Curry, Klay Thompson and Jordan Poole made a combined 788 3-pointers, the most 3-pointers made by three teammates in a single season in NBA history. They broke the previous record of 778 3-pointers by Curry, Thompson and Draymond Green set during the 2015-16 season. Curry (273, third-most), Thompson (league-leading 301) and Poole (214, ninth-most) became just the second trio in NBA history to have each player make at least 200 3-pointers in the same season, joining the trio of James Harden (262), Eric Gordon (246) and Ryan Anderson (204) of the 2016-17 Rockets.
- 200: With 273 3-pointers, Stephen Curry made at least 200 3-pointers in 10 seasons, an NBA record. Klay Thompson has eight career seasons with 200-or-more 3-pointers.
- 35: Kevon Looney had a single-season career-high 35 games in which he grabbed at least 10 rebounds (previous high, 19, last season). The last Warrior to have as many 10-rebounds games in a single season was Draymond Green with 37 in 2015-16.
- 500: Jordan Poole made his 500th career 3-pointer on January 20 at Cleveland, becoming the youngest Warrior (23 years, 215 days old) to reach the milestone.
- 19: The Warriors had 19 games in which they made 20-or-more 3-pointers, the most such games in a single season in NBA history.
- 29.8: The Warriors led the NBA in assists per game (29.8) for the seventh time in the last nine seasons (2014-15 – 2018-19, 2020-21, 2022-23). Golden State led the league with 41 30-assist games this season and recorded an NBA season-high and franchise-high-tying 47 assists on April 9 at Portland.
- 118.9: The Warriors averaged 118.9 points per game in 2022-23, the second-highest scoring average behind only the Kings (120.7). Golden State also ranked second in 3-point field goal percentage (.385 3P%).
- 1,363: Golden State made 1,363 3-point field goals in 2022-23, setting a new single-season NBA record, eclipsing the previous mark of 1,323 set by the Rockets in 2018-19.
- 115: The Warriors had the third-highest winning percentage in 2022-23 when holding opponents under 115 points (.838, 31-6 record), trailing only Milwaukee and Denver (both .851, 40-7 records).
- 50: Golden State had two 50-point quarters in 2022-23, the second-most in a single season in franchise history, trailing only the 1988-89 team that had three such quarters that season. The Warriors scored 55 points in the first quarter on April 9 at Portland, setting a new NBA record for the most points scored in the opening quarter. On October 23 vs. Sacramento, the Warriors scored 50 points in the second quarter, setting a new franchise record for the most points scored in the second quarter.
- 27: The Warriors made 27 3-pointers in the final regular season game on April 9 at Portland, tying a franchise record for most 3-pointers in a game.
- 157: The Warriors closed out the 2022-23 regular season with a 157-101 win at Portland on April 9. The 157 points were the third-most scored in franchise history and the most points scored by a team in a regulation game in 2022-23.
- 56: Golden State ended the 2022-23 regular season with a 157-101 win at Portland, its largest margin of victory (56 points) in a road game in Warriors franchise history.
- 88: The reserves for the Warriors accounted for 88 points in the 157-101 win at Portland on April 9, the second-most points scored by the Warriors' bench in franchise history since starters were tracked in 1970-71, trailing only the 94 bench points scored on March 19, 1977 vs. Indiana.
- 68,323: On Jan. 13, 2023, an NBA-record single-game attendance of 68,323 fans at the Alamodome in San Antonio witnessed the Warriors' 143-113 win over the Spurs.

BUSINESS

- 1: For the seventh time in the last eight seasons, the Warriors have led the NBA in local TV ratings.
- 1: For the sixth year in a row, the Warriors were ranked number 1 in the NBA in partnerships revenue.
- 1: On social media, the Warriors led the NBA in engagements on Facebook, Instagram and YouTube.
- 1: Warriors Shop led all NBA team stores in total team retail sales, arena sales, and e-commerce sales for the second consecutive year.
- 477: The Warriors concluded the 2022-23 NBA season with a home sellout streak of 477 games. The team has sold out every home game dating back to December 2012 (regular season and playoffs), the longest streak in franchise history.
- $2.425M: During the 2022-23 season, the Warriors Community Foundation announced a slate of $2.425 million in grants to organizations working to improve educational equity in the Bay Area, the most in a single year since the Foundation's inception in 2012.
- 315,029: Chase Center welcomed 315,029 fans for full-building events and concerts including Lizzo, Andrea Bocelli, Riot Games' League of Legends World Championship, Adam Sandler, Karol G, and more.
- 7.8M: The Warriors vs. the Lakers in the 2023 Western Conference Semifinals averaged 7.8M Viewers (27-Year High for Conference Semifinals).
- 10: The G League Warriors celebrated their 10th Anniversary in Santa Cruz.

WARRIORS 2022-23 SEASON NOTES

PLAYOFF ROAD WARRIORS

Golden State was unable to win a road game in three tries against the Lakers in the Western Conference Semifinals, ending the Warriors' NBA-record streak of winning at least one road game in 28 consecutive playoff series. The record streak began with a road victory in Denver in the First Round of the 2013 NBA Playoffs (131-117 on April 23, 2013). The streak coincides with the tenures of Stephen Curry, Draymond Green and Klay Thompson.

WINNING AGAINST THE WEST IN THE PLAYOFFS

With the Lakers eliminating the Warriors in the 2023 Western Conference Semifinals, the Warriors' NBA-record streak of series victories against the West came to an end. The Warriors had won their last 19 playoff series against Western Conference teams (2015-2023), the longest such streak since the NBA instituted conferences in 1970-71. Prior to the semifinals loss to the Lakers, the Warriors last lost a playoff series in the West in 2014, when they lost their First Round matchup against the Clippers in seven games. Golden State's streak eclipsed the previous record of 14 consecutive conference series wins by the Celtics in the Eastern Conference from 1984-88.

13 GAMES IN TWO ROUNDS

The Warriors played in 13 playoff games in 2023, the most games played in the first two rounds for the Warriors since 2003 when the league expanded the first round to a best-of-seven, according to the Elias Sports Bureau. Prior to the 2023 postseason, the most games the Warriors played in the first two rounds of the playoffs was 12, twice, in 2013 and 2019. Since 2015, the Warriors averaged 10.2 games in the first two rounds of the playoffs.

ELIMINATION GAMES

The Warriors are 35-30 (.538) all-time in elimination games, including 9-5 (.643) since 2013. Golden State's Game 6 road loss to the Lakers in the Western Conference Semifinals marked the first road elimination loss under Head Coach Steve Kerr (since 2015). The Warriors now possess an 8-3 (.727) record in games facing elimination since 2015.

WARRIORS IN ELIMINATION GAMES

	RECORD	HOME	ROAD
All-time	35-30	23-11	12-19
Since 2013	9-5	5-3	4-2
Since 2015	8-3	4-2	4-1

REBOUNDING AFTER A PLAYOFF LOSS

The Warriors own a 34-13 record (.723) after a playoff loss since 2013, the highest winning percentage in that span. Since 2015, the Warriors are 28-11 (.718) following a playoff loss.

99, RED AND SLOAN GO BY

With six postseason wins in 2023, Warriors Head Coach Steve Kerr tied Red Auerbach (99) and passed Jerry Sloan (98) for the seventh-most playoff coaching wins and is now one win away from reaching 100 playoff victories. Kerr, with four NBA championships as a head coach, has the highest winning percentage in NBA Playoff history (.712).

SELLOUT STREAK

The Warriors have sold out 477 consecutive home games (includes regular season and playoffs), including all 41 regular season games this season and six playoff games. The current sellout streak ranks third among active streaks and seventh all-time. This was the eighth consecutive 82-game NBA season in which the Warriors sold out all of the team's 41 regular season home games. The current sellout streak only includes games which allowed a full-capacity crowd (18,064 at Chase Center).

CURRY MOVES UP ON THE ALL-TIME PLAYOFF SCORING CHART

Stephen Curry entered the 2023 NBA Playoffs having scored 3,570 career points in the playoffs. After scoring 396 points in two rounds, Curry has moved into 11th place on the NBA's all-time postseason scoring list, passing 10 players in the process--seven of whom are already in The Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame, while the other two, Dwyane Wade and Dirk Nowitzki, are scheduled to be inducted this summer.

STAYING IN STATE FOR THE SEMIFINALS

With the 4-3 First Round series win over Sacramento, the Warriors advanced to the Western Conference Semifinals for the eighth time in the last 11 years. Golden State faced the Lakers in the playoffs for the first time since the 1991 Western Conference Semifinals in which the Lakers won, 4-1. All-time, the two California teams have faced each other seven times in the playoffs with the Lakers winning the last six series.

A HISTORIC GAME 7 PERFORMANCE BY CURRY

Stephen Curry scored a playoff career-high 50 points (20-38 FG, 7-18 3P, 3-5 FT) in Game 7 of the First Round series at Sacramento on April 30, becoming the first player in NBA history to score 50 points in a Game 7 (Jayson Tatum became the second to do so vs. Philadelphia in the Conference Semifinals).

Curry became the fifth Warrior to score at least 50 points in a playoff game, joining Wilt Chamberlain (four times), Rick Barry, Sleepy Floyd and Kevin Durant. Additionally, he became the first player to score at least 50 points and record one or fewer turnovers (he had one) in a series-clinching win since individual turnovers were first tracked in 1977-78. With seven 3-pointers, Curry moved past Ray Allen (22) for the most career 3-pointers made in Game 7s (now with 28).

At 35 years old, Curry became the oldest to score at least 30 points in a Game 7 (prev. 34 year-old Patrick Ewing had 37 on 5/18/97) and tied Karl Malone for the most points in a postseason game at age 35 or older (ESPN Stats & Info). With his eighth 40-point game in the playoffs, Curry tied Barry for the second-most in Warriors franchise history, trailing only Chamberlain (10).

IRON LOON

Including this year's playoffs, Kevon Looney has played in 228 consecutive games, regular season and playoffs. It is the second-longest active combined streak behind Mikal Bridges' 431, according to the Elias Sports Bureau. Looney's current combined streak is the longest streak for the Warriors since Antawn Jamison played in 246 consecutive games in the regular season and playoffs (2000-2003).

Following the last game of the 2022-23 regular season, Looney had played in 215 consecutive games in the regular season and playoffs (active leader Bridges was at 427). Looney has played in all 82 regular season games in two consecutive years, joining Bridges as the only players to have done this in the last two NBA seasons. Last season, Looney played in 104 games--all 82 regular season games and 22 playoff games--matching a franchise record held by Draymond Green and Thompson set in 2015-16. Looney is the 10th player in Warriors history to play in all 82 games in at least two consecutive seasons and the first to do so since Antawn Jamison (three straight from 2000-01 to 2002-03).

LOONEY REBOUNDING & DISHING

Kevon Looney averaged 13.1 rebounds per game in the playoffs, the second-highest rebounding average in this year's playoffs. Looney had consecutive playoff games with 20-or-more rebounds (21 in Game 7 at Sacramento and a career-high 23 in Game 1 vs. L.A. Lakers), becoming the first Warrior to accomplish this in the playoffs since Nate Thurmond did so in three consecutive games (3/26-3/31/69).

Looney grabbed at least 20 rebounds four times in the 2023 playoffs, including a career-high 23 rebounds on May 2 vs. the Lakers. Prior to Looney, the last Warrior to have four-or-more 20-rebound playoff games in franchise history was Nate Thurmond, who had 13 in 1969.

Looney became the third Warrior to ever have at least three 20-rebound games in a single playoff series in Warriors franchise history, joining Wilt Chamberlain (five times) and Nate Thurmond (four times). According to the Elias Sports Bureau, there have been 69 times in which a player has had three-or-more 20-rebound games in a single playoff series, a feat last accomplished by Dwight Howard in the 2008 First Round (three 20-rebound games).

In his NBA career, Looney has grabbed 20-or-more rebounds on six occasions (five in the playoffs, one regular season). Looney's five 20-rebound games during the playoffs are the third-most in Warriors franchise playoff history, behind Chamberlain (31) and Thurmond (19). Looney grabbed 10-or-more rebounds in six consecutive playoff games, matching his longest such streak in the regular season or playoffs (he has a regular season streak of six games).

3-POINT BARRAGE

In Games 1 and 2 of the Western Conference Semifinals vs. the Lakers, the Warriors tied their playoff franchise record of 3-pointers made (21). It was the third and fourth time the Warriors made 21 3-pointers in a playoff game (4/24/16 at Houston, 5/28/16 at Oklahoma City, 5/2/23 vs. L.A. Lakers, 5/4/23 vs. L.A. Lakers). In Semifinals Game 1 vs. the Lakers, the Warriors matched a franchise record with 53 3-point attempts. Their playoff record for 53 3-point attempts was originally set on 5/13/22 vs. Memphis. In Game 1 vs. the Lakers, Golden State also set a new franchise playoff record for most 3-pointers made in a half (13, first half), 3-pointers attempted in a half (30, first half) and quarter (19, fourth quarter).

CURRY NAMED TO 2022-23 ALL-NBA SECOND TEAM

Stephen Curry was named to the 2022-23 All-NBA Second Team, marking a franchise-record ninth All-NBA Team selection for the two-time NBA Most Valuable Player and reigning NBA Finals MVP (First Team four times, Second Team four times and Third Team once).

Curry earned Second Team honors after averaging 29.4 points, 6.3 assists and a career-best 6.1 rebounds in 34.7 minutes per game over 56 games (all starts). He nearly completed his second career 50/40/90 season (previously done in 2015-16) with shooting percentages of 49.3% from the field, 42.7% from 3-point range (7th in NBA) and 91.5% from the free throw line (3rd).

Curry, who also earned his ninth career All-Star nod in 2022-23 (did not participate due to injury), finished third in 3-point field goals made (273), recording his NBA-record 10th season with at least 200 threes while extending his NBA-record streak of 245 consecutive regular season games with at least one 3-pointer. Additionally, Curry was named Western Conference Player of the Week for Week 4 (Nov. 7-13), his 19th career weekly award. Curry, in his 14th NBA season, became the longest-tenured player in Warriors history and is the franchise's all-time leader in points, assists, 3-pointers, steals, and games played.

TRAILING 2-0

By defeating the Kings in the First Round, 4-3, the Warriors became the first defending champions to win a playoff series after losing the first two games. This was the first time in the careers of Stephen Curry, Klay Thompson and Draymond Green that the Warriors faced a 2-0 deficit in a playoff series.

According to the Elias Sports Bureau, this is the fifth time in NBA history a defending champion has lost the first two games of a playoff series. In three of those four times the defending champions were swept in the series. The Warriors (2013-22) played in 27 consecutive playoff series without trailing 2-0, the most in NBA Playoffs history (second: Celtics, 23, 1956-57).

PLAYOFF BOUND ALONG I-80

The Warriors made their ninth postseason appearance in the last 11 years and 37th in franchise history. The postseason appearance is the second consecutive for the Warriors after last season's campaign which culminated in the franchise's seventh NBA championship and fourth in the last eight seasons.

Golden State previously recorded a franchise-record seven consecutive playoff berths from 2013-19, a stretch that included five-straight NBA Finals appearances and three NBA championships (2015, 2017, 2018). Over their last eight postseason appearances, the Warriors own a playoff record of 106-47 (.693), the most wins over a span of eight playoff appearances in NBA history.

STREAKING AT HOME

The Warriors compiled a 10-game home winning streak from October 23 to December 3, and later posted a nine-game home winning streak from February 13 to March 24. The nine game streak included a 5-0 homestand from February 24 to March 3, their first undefeated five-game homestand since December 15-28, 2015.

HOME VS. ROAD

The Warriors had a .805 winning percentage at home (33-8) and a .268 road winning percentage (11-30), a difference of .537. The Warriors' home winning percentage was the third-highest in the league this season (Memphis had 35 home wins and a .854 winning percentage; Denver had 34 wins, .829); their road winning percentage was fourth-lowest (Detroit, Houston and San Antonio each had eight road wins, .195). Golden State won 33 games at home and 11 on the road, a difference of 22 – tied for the third-largest difference between home and road wins for a playoff team in NBA history. The last time a team had that large a difference was in 1988 when the Nuggets (35/9, +26) and the Celtics (32/10, +22) made the playoffs; that Nuggets team holds the largest difference between home and road wins for a playoff team.

The last team to win 11 road games or fewer in a regular 82-game season to qualify for the playoffs was the 1991-92 Heat (10 wins) and the last Western Conference team to do so was the 1989-90 Rockets (10), according to the Elias Sports Bureau. The .268 road winning percentage for the Warriors this season is the fourth-lowest winning percentage on the road for a Warriors team that made the playoffs; the last Warriors team with a winning percentage that low was the 1956-57 team that went 5-26 (.161, lowest ever).

12 THREES FROM KLAY... TWICE!

Klay Thompson made a season-high-tying 12 3-pointers on Feb. 24 vs. Houston after making 12 on Feb. 6 vs. Oklahoma City. Thompson became the first player in NBA history to have two games in which he made at least 12 threes in the same season. With three career games of 12-or-more 3-pointers, Thompson broke a tie with Stephen Curry for the most such games in NBA history.

On Feb. 24 vs. Houston, Thompson became the first player in NBA history to make 12 3-pointers and not a single 2-point field goal (0-2). He is only the second player in NBA history to score at least 40 points without making a single 2-point field goal, joining Pistons guard Joe Dumars, who had 40 points (10-19 FG, 10-18 3P, 10-10 FT) on Nov. 18, 1994 vs. Minnesota. THREE WRITING THE RECORD BOOKS

The Warriors hit an NBA-record 1,363 3-point field goals this season, eclipsing the previous single season mark of 1,323 set by the Rockets in 2018-19. Golden State tied a franchise record for threes in a single game with 27 3-pointers in the season finale on April 9 at Portland.

CURRY'S 3-POINT STREAK CONTINUES

The league's all-time leader in 3-pointers made, Stephen Curry, has made at least one 3-pointer in 245 consecutive regular season games, an NBA record. This streak began on December 1, 2018 at Detroit.

EIGHTY-TOON LOON

Kevon Looney has played in 193 consecutive regular season games, the second-longest active games played streak, trailing only Brooklyn's Mikal Bridges (392). Including the 22 playoff games in 2022, Looney has played in 215 consecutive games for the Warriors, the most since Klay Thompson's 226 consecutive games played in the regular season and playoffs (2011-2014). Looney's regular season streak eclipsed Thompson's streak of 214 consecutive regular season games (12/25/11-3/12/14) and is now tied for ninth on the Warriors all-time consecutive games played list.

Last season, Looney played in 104 games--all 82 regular season games and 22 playoff games--matching a franchise record held by Draymond Green and Thompson set in 2015-16. Looney is the 10th player in Warriors history to play in all 82 games in at least two consecutive seasons and the first to do so since Antawn Jamison (three straight from 2000-01 to 2002-03).

LOONEY GETTING OFFENSIVE

Warriors center Kevon Looney led the NBA in total offensive rebounds this season with 274, becoming the first Warrior to do so since Erick Dampier grabbed 344 offensive boards in 2003-04. The Warriors scored 351 points off of Looney's 274 offensive rebounds, the most points scored off of a player's offensive rebounds in the NBA this season.

LOONEY ON THE GLASS

Kevon Looney led the Warriors in rebounding this season with a career-high 9.3 per game, recording 35 games of 10-or-more rebounds (a new single-season career-best, surpassing the 19 set last season). The last Warriors player to have that many double digit rebound games in a single season was Draymond Green with 37 such games in 2015-16.

Looney grabbed at least 13 rebounds in six consecutive games from 2/11-2/26, a career best streak. Prior to Looney, the last Warrior to accomplish this was Andris Biedrins with six consecutive such games in 2008-09.

On January 2 vs. Atlanta, Looney grabbed 20 rebounds, the most rebounds he has grabbed in a regular season game in his career. He had 10 offensive rebounds, two shy of his career high. The last Warriors player to grab that many rebounds in a regular season game was Draymond Green with 20 on Feb. 6, 2015 at Atlanta.

Kevon Looney recorded a single-season career-high 14 double-doubles in 2022-23. Entering this season, Looney had a total of six career double-doubles (five last season and one in 2018-19).

DROPPING DIMES

In the last game of the regular season on April 9 at Portland, the Warriors dished out 47 assists, matching the franchise record and setting an NBA season-high (prev. 44 by Denver on 2/7 vs. Minnesota). The Warriors had four 40-assist games in 2022-23, the most such games in a single season in franchise history.

The Warriors led the NBA in assists per game (29.8 apg) this season, doing so for the seventh time in the last nine seasons (2014-15 to 2018-19, 2020-21 and 2022-23). The Warriors recorded 41 games of 30-or-more assists, the most such games in the NBA this season.

55 IN THE FIRST, 157 IN THE FINALE

The Warriors closed out the 2022-23 regular season with a 157-101 win at Portland on April 9. The 157 points were the third-most scored in franchise history behind 169 points on 3/2/62 vs. New York at Hershey and 162 points on 11/2/90 at Denver. It was the most points scored by a team in a regulation game this season.

The 56-point margin of victory was the largest margin of victory in a road game in Warriors franchise history (prev. 42, 1/14/22 at Chicago, 138-96) and the third-largest margin of victory in any game in franchise history, trailing only a 62-point win on 11/2/91 vs. Sacramento and a 59-point victory on 3/19/77 vs. Indiana. It's the largest margin of victory in a season finale in NBA history.

The Warriors scored 55 first-quarter points (20-29 FG, 12-18 3P, 3-3 FT), setting a new NBA record for the most points scored in an opening quarter. The previous record was 51 points, held by the Warriors (1/15/19 at Denver) and the Hornets (1/6/23 at Milwaukee).

SPLASH BROTHERS

The Warriors are 14-0 all-time when Stephen Curry and Klay Thompson each score at least 30 points in the same game (15-1 including playoffs), according to the Elias Sports Bureau, including 2-0 this season. On December 10 vs. Boston, Thompson scored a game-high 34 points and Curry added 32 points. On November 20 at Houston, Thompson tallied 41 points and Curry had 33.

On Nov. 20 at Houston, Thompson and Curry combined for 74 points. According to the Elias Sports Bureau, Curry and Thompson have combined for at least 70 points in 17 games, with the Warriors posting a 15-2 record in those contests. Prior to the November 20 game, the last time the Splash Brothers combined to score 70-or-more points was on October 29, 2018 at Chicago when Thompson tallied 52 points and Curry had 23.

Curry and Thompson have each made at least seven 3-pointers in the same game five times in their careers--including twice this season Nov. 3 at Orlando and Nov. 20 at Houston. No other duo in history has done this in multiple games, including the playoffs.

WARRIORS 2022-23 SEASON NOTES

54 FOR KLAY

Klay Thompson scored a season-high 54 points in the Warriors' 143-141 double-overtime win over the Hawks on January 2. It was the fourth time in Thompson's career he scored at least 50 points in a regular season game. The Warriors are 16-0 all-time when Thompson scores at least 40 points.

STRENGTH IN NUMBERS

The Warriors' reserves accounted for 88 of the season-high 157 points against the Trail Blazers on April 9, the second-most points scored by the Warriors' bench in franchise history since starters were tracked in 1970-71, behind only the 94 bench points scored on 3/19/77 vs. Indiana, according to the Elias Sports Bureau. Earlier in the season the Warriors reserves scored 77 of the 144 points scored against the Spurs on January 13 at the Alamodome.

The Warriors had two reserves score at least 20 points in the same game twice this season. On April 9 at Portland, it was Moses Moody with a season-high 25 points and Jordan Poole with 21. On January 13 at San Antonio, Poole had a game-high 25 points off the bench and Donte DiVincenzo scored a season-high 22 points,

THREE PLAYERS, SIX THREES APIECE

The Warriors had a trio of players each connect on six threes in the same game on two occasions this season, marking just the third and fourth such occurrences in NBA history. Stephen Curry and Klay Thompson each made seven 3-pointers to go with Jordan Poole's six) on March 31 vs. San Antonio. Earlier in the season on Nov. 20 at Houston, Thompson made 10 3-pointers, Curry had seven and Andrew Wiggins connected on six. The Warriors trio combined for 23 3-pointers, the most by three teammates in a single game in NBA history.

PAIR OF THREEMATES

On December 3 vs. Houston, Andrew Wiggins tied his career high with eight 3-pointers and Stephen Curry hit eight 3-pointers of his own, becoming just the third pair of teammates to make at least eight 3-pointers in a game in NBA history, according to the Elias Sports Bureau.

COMEBACK DUBS

The Warriors overcame double-digit deficits to win 13 times this season, all at home. The 13 comeback wins are the most in a single season for the Warriors since they had 13 in 2018-19.

The Warriors rallied back from double-digit deficits to win in four consecutive games (2/26 vs. MIN, 2/28 vs. POR, 3/2 vs. LAC, 3/3 vs. NOP), the first time since play-by-play was first tracked (1997-98) that this has happened, according to the Elias Sports Bureau.

Conversely, the Warriors have lost 11 games this season in which they led by at least 10 points. The largest comeback for a Warriors' opponent this season was 17 by the Nets on January 22 (120-116).

WARRIORS 2022-23 SEASON NOTES

89 POINTS IN THE FIRST HALF

On October 23 vs. the Kings, the Warriors scored 89 points in the first half, the third-highest total in any half in franchise history. Prior to that outburst, the last time the Warriors recorded an 80-point half was on Jan. 16, 2019 vs. New Orleans when they scored 81 in the second half. In NBA history the Warriors' 89 first-half points vs. the Kings is tied for the fifth-most points scored in the first half and is tied for 18th in any half.

Twice this season Draymond Green dished out 10-or-more assists while not recording a single turnover twice this season (10 assists on 11/27 at Minnesota and 13 assists on 11/11 vs. Cleveland). Green has the most 10-assist/0-turnover games by a non-guard in Warriors franchise history with five and is tied with Stephen Curry for the second-most by any Warriors player, trailing only Tim Hardaway (9). Hardaway had three seasons in which he had multiple games of 10 assists without a turnover; Green now joins him as the only Warriors with at least two seasons with multiple 10-assist/0 turnover games in the same season.

CURRY NAMED 2022 SI SPORTSPERSON OF THE YEAR

Stephen Curry was named as the 2022 Sports Illustrated Sportsperson of the Year, becoming the first individual player in Warriors franchise history to earn the prestigious honor, which Sports Illustrated has awarded annually since its inception in 1954. In 2018, Sports Illustrated gave its annual Sportsperson of the Year award to the Golden State Warriors, making the Warriors the fourth team ever to receive the recognition, joining the U.S. Men's Olympic Hockey Team (1980), the U.S. Women's Soccer team (1999) and the Boston Red Sox (2004). Having shared the award with the Golden State Warriors team in 2018, Curry now joins Tom Brady, LeBron James and Tiger Woods as the only athletes to be named Sportsperson of the Year more than once.

CURRY, ELDER STATESMAN

The 2022-23 season marked the 14th in the NBA career of Stephen Curry, breaking a tie with Chris Mullin for the most seasons played for the Warriors franchise. Curry, Al Attles and Paul Arizin are the only Warriors that played every game of their NBA career with the Warriors franchise. Among active players, Curry trails only Miami's Udonis Haslem (entering 20th season) as the player with the longest tenure with only one team.

ALL-TIME RECORDS

WILT CHAMBERLAIN'S 100-POINT GAME

On March 2, 1962, Wilt Chamberlain scored 100 points in a 169-147 victory over the New York Knicks in Hershey, Pennsylvania. Chamberlain's 100-point effort, which remains an NBA record, was one of the 105 games in which he scored 50 points or more during his five-plus seasons in a Warriors uniform.

Chamberlain set numerous NBA records with his milestone performance: most points scored in the fourth quarter (31), most points scored in any half (59 points in the second half), most field goals made (36) and attempted (63) in a single game (36), most field goals made (22, second half) and attempted (37) in any half, most field goals attempted in a quarter (21, fourth quarter), most free throws made in a game (28).

His 100th point was punctuated with a slam dunk with 46 seconds left.

In unveiling their new logo on June 17, 2010, the Golden State Warriors drew on the franchise's rich Bay Area history, creating a modern version of the team's most popular logos and uniforms from years gone by to simultaneously salute the team's past and serve as a link to the exciting prospects of the organization's future. Prior to the 2019-20 season, the logo was updated with a more accurate portrayal of the Bay Bridge and custom font.

A silhouette of the Eastern Span of the Bay Bridge is the focal point of the team's primary logo design. This Bay Bridge rendering as the centerpiece of the team's new look is a direct spin-off of "The City" jersey, which the club wore from 1966-71. To this day, "The City" logo remains one of the most popular emblems in the history of professional sports.

The depiction of the Bay Bridge also serves as the link between the Warriors' original Bay Area home in San Francisco, where the team arrived from Philadelphia 50 years ago returns for the first time since 1971, and its former home in Oakland, where the team played its home games at Oracle Arena (formerly the Oakland Coliseum Arena) for 47 of the last 48 seasons (the Warriors spent one year in San Jose in 1996-97).

The colors of the new logo and branding elements are Warriors Royal Blue and California Golden Yellow. These two colors have been the most prevalent in the team's Bay Area uniform history, appearing as the dominant scheme in four of the last five decades since the team's arrival on the West Coast in 1962.

The current Warriors logo, which was the team's first major branding and identity change since 1997, helped mark the beginning of a new era for one of the NBA's longest tenured franchises. A new era that began, appropriately enough, with a tip of the cap to the team's past.

NBA's 50 Greatest Players

On October 29, 1996, the NBA named its 50 Greatest Players in history in conjunction with the league's 50th anniversary. The following is a list of Warriors who were named with the years they played with the franchise:

Paul Arizin, 1950-62
Rick Barry, 1965-67, 72-78
Wilt Chamberlain, 1959-65
Jerry Lucas, 1969-71
Robert Parish, 1976-80
Nate Thurmond, 1963-74

NBA 75th Anniversary Team

NBA 75th Anniversary Team was announced across TNT and ESPN from Oct. 19-21, 2021, as the league tipped off its landmark 75th Anniversary Season. The NBA 75th Anniversary Team was selected by a blue-ribbon panel of current and former NBA players, coaches, general managers and team and league executives, WNBA legends and sportswriters and broadcasters. Voters were asked to select the 75 Greatest Players in NBA History without regard to position. Panelists did not rank their selections. Current and former players were not allowed to vote for themselves.

Paul Arizin, 1950-62
Rick Barry, 1965-67, 72-78
Wilt Chamberlain, 1959-65
Stephen Curry, 2009-present
Kevin Durant, 2016-19
Jerry Lucas, 1969-71
Robert Parish, 1976-80
Nate Thurmond, 1963-74

WARRIORS RETIRED NUMBERS

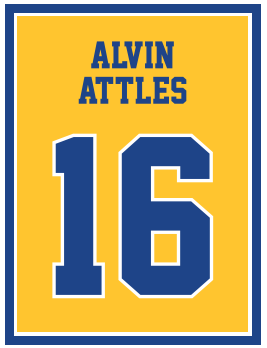

Wilt Chamberlain averaged 41.5 points and 25.1 rebounds in five seasons with the Philadelphia and San Francisco Warriors. Chamberlain was named both Rookie of the Year and Most Valuable Player in 1959-60 and earned four MVP awards over the course of his career. He owns numerous franchise and NBA records, including most points (100) and rebounds (55) in a game, and is the only player ever to average over 50 points per game in a single season (50.4 in 1961-62). He was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 1979 and his number was retired by the Warriors on December 29, 1999.

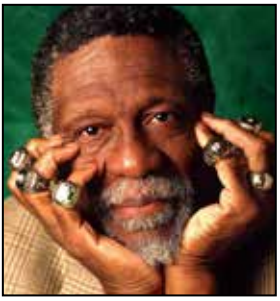

Tom Meschery played six of his 10 NBA seasons with the Philadelphia and San Francisco Warriors, averaging 12.9 points and 8.5 rebounds per game with the team. The 1963 NBA All-Star also appeared in 39 playoff games with the Warriors, averaging 16.3 points. His interest in poetry and literature earned him the nickname of "Renaissance Man" among his Warriors teammates, but his ferociousness and intensity on the court made him known by others as "The Mad Russian." He was the first Warrior to have his number retired on October 13, 1967.

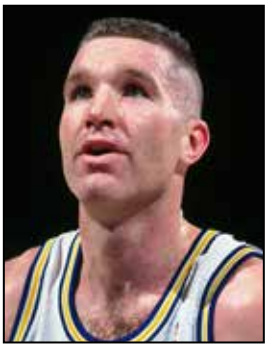

Alvin Attles joined the Philadelphia Warriors in 1960 as the club's fifth-round draft choice and has been affiliated with the franchise ever since, a span of 60 years that represents the longest stint with a single franchise in NBA history. In 11 seasons as a player, he averaged 8.9 points over 711 career games. He is the franchise leader in coaching victories with 557 and guided the Warriors to the 1975 NBA Championship during his 13-year run as the team's head coach. Attles was honored by the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame with the John W. Bunn Lifetime Achievement Award in 2014 and later inducted into the Hall of Fame as a contributor in 2019. His number was retired on February 10, 1977.

Bill Russell (February 12, 1934 - July 31, 2022)
The National Basketball Association (NBA) and National Basketball Players Association (NBPA) that they will honor the life and legacy of 11-time NBA champion and civil rights pioneer Bill Russell by permanently retiring his uniform number, 6, throughout the league. The iconic Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Famer will be the first player to have his number retired across the NBA. Russell's jersey number, which he wore for his entire 13-season career from 1956-69, will not be issued again by any NBA team to any player. Players who currently wear No. 6 will be grandfathered. Regarded as the ultimate winner and model teammate, Russell transformed the game with his dominant defense and graceful athleticism at the center position. He won a record 11 NBA championships in 13 seasons, which followed back-to-back national championships at the University of San Francisco (1955 and 1956) and a gold medal with the U.S. Olympic Men's Basketball Team (1956). Russell, who led Boston to eight consecutive NBA championships from 1959-66, was so synonymous with success that the NBA Finals Most Valuable Player Award was named for him in 2009.

WARRIORS RETIRED NUMBERS

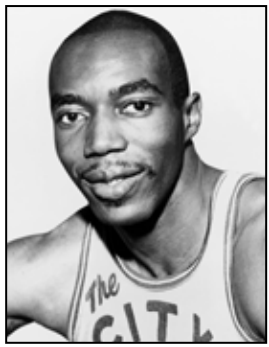

Chris Mullin averaged 20.1 points over 13 seasons with the Warriors, appearing in more games (807) and recording more steals (1,360) than any player in franchise history. The five-time NBA All-Star averaged 26.5 points in 1988-89, the first of five consecutive campaigns in which he averaged 25-plus points. Mullin, alongside Tim Hardaway and Mitch Richmond, anchored the high-scoring trio known as Run TMC, which spent two seasons together from 1989-91. He was also a member of the fabled Dream Team in 1992, capturing one of his two Olympic gold medals. He was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 2011 and his number was retired by the Warriors on March 19, 2012.

Rick Barry averaged 25.6 points during his eight years with the Warriors, earning NBA All-Star accolades in each of those seasons. The 1966 NBA Rookie of the Year earned All-NBA honors six times with the club and led the league in scoring with 35.6 points per game in 1966-67. He averaged 26.9 points in 66 playoff games and was named NBA Finals MVP in Golden State's 4-0 sweep of the Washington Bullets in the 1975 NBA Finals. He was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 1987 and his number was retired by the Warriors on March 18, 1988.

Nate Thurmond averaged 17.4 points and 16.9 rebounds during his 11 seasons with the Warriors, making seven All-Star Game appearances. Named to the NBA All-Defensive Team five times with the Warriors, Thurmond ranks as the team's all-time leader in minutes played (30,735) and total rebounds (12,771). "Big Nate" appeared in an additional 54 postseason games with the Warriors, averaging 15.4 points and 16.6 rebounds in those contests. He was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 1985 and his number was retired by the Warriors on March 8, 1978.

His myriad accomplishments included five NBA Most Valuable Player awards, 12 NBA All-Star selections and 11 All-NBA Team honors. Russell was named to all four NBA anniversary teams (25th, 35th, 50th and 75th) and inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in 1975. A four-time NBA rebounding champion, he ranks second in league history in total rebounds (21,620) and rebounds per game (22.5) in the regular season. The Celtics retired his No. 6 jersey in 1972.

Russell's impact on the NBA extended far beyond his playing achievements. In 1966, he was hired by the Celtics as the first Black head coach in the history of the NBA and major U.S. professional sports. As a player-head coach, he guided Boston to back-to-back NBA championships in 1968 and 1969.

During and after his extraordinary basketball career, Russell passionately advocated for the values of equality, respect and inclusion. He marched for civil rights with Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and was steadfast in his belief that all people should be treated with dignity. Russell was awarded the 2010 Presidential Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest civilian honor, for his athletic feats and lifelong commitment to social justice.

April 7, 1956 (Philadelphia) - Joe Graboski recorded a double-double with team-highs of 29 points and 16 rebounds to lead the Philadelphia Warriors to a 99-88 win over the Fort Wayne Pistons to capture the 1956 National Basketball Association Championship before a crowd of 11,194 at Convention Hall. Paul Arizin (26 points, 13 rebounds) and Tom Gola (16 points, 15 rebounds) also had double-doubles. Once the Warriors broke a 54-all tie in the third quarter, they never trailed the rest of the way, outscoring the Pistons, 55-45, in the second half. Warriors Head Coach George Senesky, who played all eight of his seasons (1946-47-1953-54) with Philadelphia, including their 1947 Championship, earned the 1956 NBA title in his first year as the team's head coach.

May 25, 1975 (Washington) - Finals Most Valuable Player Rick Barry finished with a team-high 20 points and Warriors guard Butch "Doc" Beard scored the Warriors' final four points to give the Warriors a 96-95 series-clinching win over the heavily-favored Washington Bullets, earning a sweep for the franchise's third championship and first since 1956. Warriors Head Coach Al Attles was ejected with 8:22 left in the first quarter after getting assessed two technical fouls; Assistant Coach Joe Roberts took over head coaching duties and guided the Warriors' rally after falling behind by as many as 14 points in the second quarter. Clifford Ray recorded a double-double with 12 points and a team-high-tying 11 rebounds. The Warriors outrebounded the Bullets, 52-37, with 11 coming from George Johnson, who also had four blocks for the Warriors off the bench. Washington was led by Phil Chenier's game-high 26 points and 11 assists. Wes Unseld also recorded a double-double with 19 points and game-high 16 rebounds for the Bullets, who were tied with the Boston Celtics for the best record during the regular season (60-22).

June 16, 2015 (Cleveland) - The Warriors won the 2014-15 NBA Championship with the 105-97 Game 6 victory in Cleveland, capturing the fourth championship in franchise history and first in 40 years (1974-75 season). Warriors Head Coach Steve Kerr became the first coach to lead his team to a title in his first season at the helm since Pat Riley led the Los Angeles Lakers to a championship in 1981-82. Andre Iguodala was named the NBA Finals MVP with averages of 16.3 points, 5.8 rebounds, 4.0 assists and 1.33 steals in 37.0 minutes, including a team-high-tying and 2015 postseason-high 25 points in Game 6. Iguodala, who joined Rick Barry (1975) as the only Finals MVPs in franchise history, is the first Finals MVP in NBA history to win the award without having started a regular season game that season. Stephen Curry scored a team-high-tying 25 points, finishing with a then-NBA-record 98 threes in the postseason. Draymond Green tallied 16 points, 11 rebounds and a then-playoff-career-high 10 assists, the first triple-double by a Warrior in the postseason since Guy Rodgers in 1962 (first triple-double ever by a Warrior in The Finals).

June 8, 2018 (Cleveland) - The Warriors swept the Cavaliers in four games, claiming their second-straight NBA Championship and third in the last four years as Stephen Curry tallied a game-high 37 points and Kevin Durant, earning his second-consecutive Finals MVP, recorded his first career playoff triple-double with 20 points and game-highs of 12 rebounds and 10 assists. The Warriors jumped out to an early 24-13 lead but the Cavaliers overtook them, 39-38, with 7:12 left in the second quarter. Golden State closed out the first half on a 5-0 spurt for a 61-52 halftime lead. The Warriors outscored the Cavaliers, 25-13, in the third quarter to take a 21-point advantage, 86-65, into the fourth quarter. Curry's seventh 3-pointer of the night gave the Warriors their largest lead of the game, a 28-point lead, 102-74, with 6:19 remaining. For the Warriors, Andre Iguodala contributed 11 points off the bench and Klay Thompson added 10 points. LeBron James led Cleveland in scoring (23 points) and assists (eight) while Kevin Love grabbed a team-high nine rebounds to go along with 13 points. J.R. Smith and Rodney Hood each scored 10 points. The Warriors turned the ball over 10 times and limited the Cavaliers to a 34.5 field goal percentage.

June 16, 2022 (Boston) - Stephen Curry earned his first Bill Russell NBA Finals Most Valuable Player award after recording a game-high-tying 34 points, seven rebounds and seven assists to lead the Warriors to the franchise's seventh championship and fourth in the last eight years with a 103-90 win over the Celtics at TD Garden. Offensively, the Warriors overcame an early 12-point deficit and used a 21-0 run in the first half and kept the Celtics at bay for most the game. Defensively, Golden State capitalized on 23 Celtics turnovers, recycling them into 20 points. Andrew Wiggins tallied 18 points, six rebounds, five assists, four steals and three blocks. Jordan Poole contributed 15 points off the bench. Draymond Green recorded 12 points, a team-high 12 rebounds, a team-high eight assists, two steals and two blocks. Klay Thompson added 12 points. Jalyen Brown scored a game-high-tying 34 points. Al Horford recorded a double-double with 19 points and game-high 14 rebounds. Jayson Tatum scored 13 points and Robert Williams had 10 points.

CONFERENCE & DIVISION CHAMPIONSHIPS

The Golden State Warriors became the first team in NBA history to win five consecutive conference titles (2014-2019) and have earned seven Western Conference Championships in their franchise history since the NBA began using the conference format in 1970-71. The Warriors became only the second team to earn five straight trips to the Western Conference Finals, joining the Los Angeles Lakers (eight straight, 1982-1989). Since 1970-71, only five franchises - Warriors, Lakers, Celtics, Bulls and Pistons - have made at least five-straight appearances in the conference finals. Nine times the Warriors have advanced to the conference finals, winning seven of those series.

The Golden State Warriors have captured the Pacific Division title seven times since the NBA began using the current divisional format in 1970-71, second only to the Los Angeles Lakers' 23 divisional titles. The Warriors claimed the division crown in five straight seasons, 2014-15 to 2018-19.

Warriors Head Coach Steve Kerr joins Pat Riley as the only coaches to win division titles in each of their first five seasons as a head coach, according to the Elias Sports Bureau. Among the four major professional sports leagues, the Warriors are the first Bay Area team to earn five consecutive division crowns since the San Francisco 49ers won five-straight NFC West titles from 1986-1990. The Warriors join the Lakers as the only teams to win the Pacific Division in five consecutive seasons, which the Lakers last accomplished from 2007-08 to 2011-12.

THE PHILLY YEARS

Before moving West and staking claim in the Bay Area, the Warriors called Philadelphia their home for 16 memorable years.

From the inception of the Basketball Association of America (the predecessor to the National Basketball Association) in 1946, to the conclusion of the 1961-62 season, the Philadelphia Warriors dazzled their fans and produced legendary players like Wilt Chamberlain, Joseph Fulks, Paul Arizin and Neil Johnston en route to amassing a record of 558-545 and capturing two NBA championships.

Expanding on the National Basketball League of the 1930's and 40's, The Basketball Association of America began play in November 1946 and consisted of 11 teams and two divisions. The Philadelphia Warriors took residence in the Eastern Division, and under the guidance of head coach Eddie Gottlieb wasted no time in claiming the first ever title, beating the Chicago Stags in the championship series (4-1). The inaugural Warriors were led by "Jumping" Joe Fulks, who followed up his league-leading scoring average (23.2) in the 60-game regular season by averaging 22.2 points in the playoffs, including a game-high 37 points in Game 1 of The Finals.

The league prospered and grew to 17 teams and was renamed the National Basketball Association prior to the 1949-50 season. The Warriors claimed their second title in 1956, beating the Fort Wayne Pistons in a five-game series (4-1). In doing so, they completed one of the most dramatic turnarounds in NBA history, going from last place in the Eastern Division in 1954-55 to the penthouse one year later. Former Warriors player George Senesky, in his first full season as head coach, directed a well-balanced squad to an NBA-best 45-27 record, as every member of the starting five averaged double-figure scoring. Leading the way were NBA All-Stars Arizin (24.2 points and 7.4 rebounds) and Neil Johnston (22.1 points, a league-leading .457 field goal percentage and 12.5 rebounds). In the championship series against Fort Wayne, Arizin averaged 29.0 points. In the deciding fifth game, Joseph Graboski led the way with a team-high 29 points.

In the 1959 NBA Draft, the Warriors chose Philadelphia native Wilt Chamberlain out of Kansas University as a territorial selection. The 7-1, 275-pound giant with tremendous power and grace would soon change the face of the game forever. As a rookie, Chamberlain averaged 37.6 points and 27.0 rebounds a game, shattering previous league highs. His powerful slam dunks and unprecedented statistics drew a record amount of fans not yet seen by the young league. Chamberlain coasted to the league's Rookie of the Year and Most Valuable Player awards. With Arizin, Woody Sauldsberry, Tom Gola and Guy Rodgers surrounding the superstar center, rookie Head Coach Neil Johnston and the Warriors cruised into the Eastern Division Finals, where they fell to the powerhouse Boston Celtics. This series gave birth to one of the NBA's greatest rivalries, the clash of Chamberlain versus Bill Russell.

During the 1960-61 season, Chamberlain's numbers and reputation continued to grow, drawing huge crowds wherever the Warriors traveled. He averaged 38.4 points and hauled in 27.2 rebounds during this memorable season. The Warriors added a gritty, hard-nosed rookie guard by the name of Alvin Attles to the squad and returned to the playoffs only to be knocked off by the Syracuse Nationals.

The following season would be a record-setting year for "Wilt the Stilt." His 50.4 scoring average and 4,029 total points are records that have yet to be challenged. Chamberlain's season was highlighted by a perfromance in Hershey, Pa. on March 2, 1962, when he scored an incredible 100 points in a game against the New York Knicks.

Riding the backs of Chamberlain, Arizin, Attles and rookie Tom Meschery, the Warriors finished with a 49-31 record and met the Celtics again in the Eastern Division Finals. In a seven-game battle that saw Chamberlain swarmed by Russell and Celtic double and triple-teams, the Warriors lost (109-107) in Game 7. It would be the team's last game as the Philadelphia Warriors.

NOTES

- Head Coach Alvin Attles posted his 500th career coaching victory vs. Dallas on 1/2/82, a milestone only five other NBA coaches had reached at the time.
- Bernard King (eighth) and World Free (ninth) became the first Warriors duo to finish among the league's top 10 in scoring in the same season since 1960-61 (Wilt Chamberlain and Paul Arizin).
- Warriors' overall field goal percentage (.496 FG%) was a club record at the time.
- King was the first Warrior in four years to appear in the NBA All-Star Game.
- King was selected to the All-NBA Second Team.
- For the second straight year, the Warriors were one game short of qualifying for the playoffs.

NOTES

- Traded Mitch Richmond, Les Jepsen and a second-round draft pick in 1995 to the Sacramento Kings for the rights to Billy Owens on 11/1/91.
- Recorded their best regular-season record in 16 years (55-27) and a then-all-time best 24-17 (.585) road record.
- Maintained a winning record throughout an entire season for the first time in franchise history.
- Led the league in scoring for the second time in three years (118.7 ppg)...Mullin (25.6 ppg, third), Hardaway (23.4 ppg, sixth) and Marciulionis (18.9 ppg, 26th) ranked among NBA leaders in scoring and formed the league's top scoring trio (67.9 ppg).
- Mullin (first team) and Hardaway (second team) were named to the All-NBA Team.
- Prior to the season, Mullin was named to the 1992 U.S. Olympic "Dream Team."
- Don Nelson won the NBA Coach of the Year Award for an unprecedented third time.
- Owens was a unanimous pick for the All-Rookie Team.

NOTES

- Chris Mullin was joined on the Western Conference team by Tim Hardaway, giving the Warriors an All-Star duo for a third straight season.
- Hardaway, who finished 13th in the league in scoring (21.5 ppg) and second in assists (10.6 apg), was named All-NBA Third Team, becoming the first guard in franchise history to make back-to-back appearances on the team.
- Sprewell, the first rookie in team history to total at least 1,000 points, 250 rebounds, 250 assists, 100 steals and 50 blocks, was named to the NBA All-Rookie Second Team.
- Warriors led the NBA in games missed due to injury or illness with 14 players sidelined for a total of 312 games.
- Team was awarded the third pick in the 1993 NBA Draft at the NBA Draft Lottery, selecting Anfernee Hardaway, then immediately trading his rights along with first-round picks in 1996, 1998 & 2000 to Orlando for the rights to Chris Webber, the number one pick in the draft.

NOTES

- Latrell Sprewell, at age 24, became the youngest Warriors player to start in an NBA All-Star Game since Rick Barry earned the honor as a 21-year-old rookie in 1966.
- Tim Hardaway finished the season as the only player in the league who averaged over 20.0 points and 9.0 assists (third in the league in assists with a 9.3 average).
- Chris Gatling became the first Warriors player since Wilt Chamberlain (1962-63) to lead the NBA in field goal percentage (.633), setting a team record.
- Donyell Marshall was acquired from Minnesota in exchange for Tom Gugliotta on 2/18/95, and was named NBA All-Rookie Second Team by the league's head coaches.
- Christopher Cohan became the sole owner of the Warriors by purchasing a 75-percent interest from a group of co-investors led by Jim Fitzgerald and Dan Finnane.
- Rony Seikaly was acquired from Miami in exchange for Billy Owens and the rights to Predrag Danilovic on 11/2/94.
- Tom Gugliotta and three future first-round picks were acquired from Washington in exchange for Chris Webber on 11/17/94.
- Don Nelson stepped down as head coach and general manager, Bob Lanier was named interim head coach and Ed Gregory was named director of player personnel on 2/13/95.
- On 5/21/95, the Warriors won the NBA Draft Lottery and used the first pick in the draft to select Joe Smith.

NOTES

- Relieved P.J. Carlesimo of his head coaching duties and named Garry St. Jean general manager/head coach (12/27/99).
- Acquired Larry Hughes and Billy Owens from Philadelphia as part of a three-team trade that sent John Starks and a 2000 first-round draft choice (Washington's) to Chicago, with Toni Kukoc going to the 76ers (2/16/00).
- Antawn Jamison's scoring average increase from 1998-99 to 1999-2000 (9.6 ppg to 19.6 ppg) was largest increase in the NBA.
- Hughes averaged 22.7 points per game after joining the Warriors.
- Donyell Marshall became the first Warrior to average a point/rebound double-double since Larry Smith in 1984-85.
- The Warriors had 14 players miss 329 games due to injury (2nd in NBA), using a franchise-record and league-high 23 players.
- The Warriors led the NBA in offensive rebounding at 15.85 offensive rebounds per game.

NOTES

- Golden State went 27-14 at home, its best home record since 1993-94.
- Warriors allowed 94.0 points per game in 2003-04, a 9.6 ppg improvement over 2002-03 (103.6 ppg) and the biggest improvement in the NBA.
- Team posted a seven-game winning streak from 3/15 to 3/28/04, the longest since an eight-game streak in 1994.
- During win streak, held all seven opponents under 90 points – marking franchise's longest such streak during the shot clock era.
- Jason Richardson led the team in scoring (18.7 ppg), while ranking second on the team in rebounding (6.7 rpg).
- Richardson's rebounding average was tops among all NBA guards.
- Adonal Foyle moved into second place on the Warriors all-time blocked shots list, trailing only Joe Barry Carroll.
- Erick Dampier finished fourth in the NBA in rebounding (12.0 rpg) and third in the league in field goal percentage (.535 FG%).

NOTES

- Chris Mullin was named Executive Vice President of Basketball Operations on April 22, 2004.
- Mike Montgomery was hired as Head Coach on May 21, 2004, after an 18-year career at Stanford.
- Golden State finished 18-10 (.643) in 28 games after the arrival of Baron Davis in trade deadline day deal.
- Jason Richardson led the team in scoring (21.7 ppg, 15th in NBA) and was named Western Conference Player of the Week for the week ending March 20 -- becoming the first Warriors player to win the award since Tim Hardaway did so in November 1994.
- Baron Davis won back-to-back Player of the Week awards (April 3 & April 10), becoming just the eighth player to win consecutive weekly awards -- joining C. Drexler, M. Jordan, D. Robinson, K. Malone, A. Iverson, T. Duncan and K. Garnett.
- Troy Murphy averaged 15.4 points and 10.8 rebounds, ranking 5th in the NBA in rebounding and 10th in double-doubles (34).
- Adonal Foyle surpassed Joe Barry Carroll for top spot on team's all-time blocked shots list, finishing season with 965 career blocks.

NOTES

- Jason Richardson led the team in scoring (career-high 23.2 ppg, 13th in NBA) for the third consecutive season.
- Richardson established a then-franchise record with 183 three-point field goals made (Tim Hardaway, 168, 1994-95).
- Baron Davis averaged 17.9 points and a career-high 8.9 assists per game (second in NBA).
- Troy Murphy averaged 14.0 points and 10.0 rebounds, ranking sixth in the NBA in rebounding and 11th in double-doubles (34).
- Murphy was one of only six players in the NBA to average a point/rebound double-double for the season.
- Golden State was 12-17 in 29 games decided by five points-or-less, including 7-14 in games decided by three points-or-less.
- Warriors set a franchise attendance record for the fourth-straight season, averaging 18,273 fans per game (10th in NBA).

NOTES

- Warriors recorded their first winning season since 1993-94 and earned their first playoff appearance since 1994.
- Golden State finished campaign going 16-5 in its final 21 games, including a 9-1 record over the final 10 games of the season.
- After earning the No. 8 seed in the Western Conference Playoffs, Golden State knocked off No. 1 seed Dallas Mavericks, becoming just the third No. 8 seed to knock off a No. 1, and the first since the First Round moved to a best-of-seven format.
- Baron Davis led the Warriors in scoring during the regular-season (20.1 ppg), while also leading the NBA in steals (2.14 spg) and ranking fifth in assists (8.1 apg). During the playoffs, he averaged 25.3 points, 6.5 assists, 4.5 rebounds and 2.91 steals.
- Monta Ellis was named the NBA's Most Improved Player, averaging 16.5 points after averaging 6.8 the previous season.
- On January 17, 2007 the Warriors acquired Stephen Jackson and Al Harrington as part of an eight-player trade with Indiana.
- Don Nelson returned for his second stint as head coach of the Warriors and led a team that ranked second in the NBA in scoring.

NOTES

- Golden State's 48-34 record was the best for a non-playoff team since the NBA instituted the 16-team format in 1983-84.
- The 48 wins were the team's most since 1993-94 and third most in the previous 32 seasons and the 21-20 road record marked the team's second most road victories in the previous 33 seasons.
- Warriors led the NBA in scoring, averaging 111.0 points per contest, marking the fifth time team has paced the league since moving West in 1962 and the first time since 1991-92.
- Baron Davis (21.8 ppg), Monta Ellis (20.2 ppg) and Stephen Jackson (20.1 ppg) became the first NBA trio to all average more than 20 points since Chris Mullin, Mitch Richmond and Tim Hardaway did so for Golden State in 1990-91.
- Warriors established an all-time single-season franchise record in attendance, averaging 19,631 fans per game (capacity 19,596) and sold out 32 of 41 home games.

NOTES

- Golden State ranked second in the NBA in scoring, averaging 108.6 points per game.
- Stephen Jackson established career-highs in points (20.7 ppg), assists (6.5 apg), rebounds (5.1 rpg) and minutes (39.6 mpg), and was one of only four players in the NBA to average at least 20 points, six assists and five rebounds.
- Anthony Morrow led the NBA in 3-point field goal percentage, shooting .467 (86-184 3P) to become the first rookie in NBA history and the first player in Warriors history to lead the league in 3-point shooting.
- Jamal Crawford scored 50 points at Charlotte on December 20, 2008, becoming the first Warriors player to reach the half-century mark since Antawn Jamison did so twice in December of 2000.
- The Warriors had the youngest team in the NBA in 2008-09.

NOTES

- Monta Ellis averaged a career-high 25.5 points (sixth-best in NBA) to become the first Warriors player to average 25.0 points per game since Chris Mullin in 1991-92, and first to finish in NBA's top-10 in scoring since Antawn Jamison in 2000-01.
- Stephen Curry, who set a then-NBA rookie record with 166 three-pointers, was named Western Conference Rookie of the Month in January, March & April en route to All-Rookie First Team honors and a runner-up finish in NBA Rookie of the Year balloting.
- Ellis and Curry both ranked in the NBA's top-five in steals per game, finishing second (2.23 spg) and third (1.90 spg), respectively.
- The Warriors ranked second in the NBA in scoring (108.8 ppg), while leading the league in fast break points (23.7).
- Seven different players scored at least 30 points in a game (Kelenna Azubuike, Stephen Curry, Monta Ellis, Corey Maggette, Morrow, Anthony Tolliver, C.J. Watson).
- Don Nelson finished the season with 1,335 career coaching victories, moving past Lenny Wilkens (1,332) for the top spot on the NBA's All-Time Head Coaching Victories list.

NOTES

- The sale of the Golden State Warriors to an ownership group headed by Joe Lacob and Peter Guber was formally completed on November 12, 2010.
- Monta Ellis ranked 8th in the NBA in scoring (24.1 ppg), becoming the first Warrior to average at least 24.0 points in back-to-back seasons since Chris Mullin did so in five straight seasons from 1988-89 through 1992-93.
- Stephen Curry led the NBA in free throw percentage (.934 FT%), establishing a new franchise single-season record.
- Dorell Wright finished third in voting for the Most Improved Player award after becoming the first player in NBA history to score more points in his seventh season (1,344) than he had in the first six years of his career combined (1,333).
- Wright led the NBA in 3-point field goals made, connecting on a then-Warriors franchise record 194 three-pointers.
- David Lee ranked seventh in the NBA in rebounding (9.8 rpg) and in double-doubles (37).

NOTES

- Ranked second in the NBA in three-point shooting (.388 3P%) as a team, with four players finishing among the league's Top 20: Stephen Curry (.455, tied second), Brandon Rush (.452, sixth), Richard Jefferson (.420, tied 12th) and Klay Thompson (.414, 17th).
- Klay Thompson was named First Team All-Rookie after ranking fourth among all first-year players in scoring (12.5 ppg), first in 3-point percentage (.414 3P%) and second in free throw percentage (.868 FT%).
- Thompson started the final 28 games, averaging 18.6 points per game in those contests to lead all rookies over that stretch.
- David Lee became the first Warrior to average at least 20.0 points and 9.0 rebounds per game since Nate Thurmond in 1971-72.
- In separate deals just prior to the trade deadline, acquired center Andrew Bogut from the Milwaukee Bucks and Richard Jefferson from the San Antonio Spurs, while parting ways with Monta Ellis, Ekpe Udoh and Kwame Brown.
- Prior to the season named Mark Jackson as the 24th head coach in franchise history and 19th since the team moved West.

NOTES

- Under second-year Head Coach Mark Jackson, Golden State posted a 47-35 record and finished second in the Pacific Division.
- After earning the No. 6 seed in the Western Conference Playoffs, the Warriors knocked off the No. 3 seed Denver Nuggets in six games before extending the San Antonio Spurs to six games in the Western Conference Semifinals.
- David Lee, who led the NBA in double-doubles (56), earned a spot on the Western Conference All-Star Team and was named Third Team All-NBA, becoming the first Warriors All-Star since 1997 and first to earn All-NBA honors since 1993-94.
- Stephen Curry ranked seventh in the NBA in scoring with a team-leading 22.9 ppg, established a new NBA record for 3-pointers made in a season (272) and finished third in the league in 3-point field goal percentage (.453 3P%).
- Klay Thompson connected on 211 three-pointers, which also surpassed the previous Warriors franchise record.
- Harrison Barnes earned First Team All-Rookie honors after averaging 9.2 ppg and starting all 81 games in which he appeared.
- In the Playoffs, Curry paced the Warriors by averaging 23.4 ppg, scoring 20-or-more points eight times in 12 postseason games.

NOTES

- Finished regular-season with a 51-31 record, marking the team's first 50-win season since 1993-94.
- Team earned its second consecutive playoff berth, marking first back-to-back appearances since the 1990-91 & 1991-92 seasons.
- Stephen Curry, who ranked seventh in the NBA in scoring (24.0 ppg), fifth in assists (8.5 apg) and first in 3-point field goals (261), earned All-NBA Second Team honors and became the first Warrior voted to start the NBA All-Star Game since 1995.
- Andre Iguodala was named NBA All-Defensive First Team, becoming first Warrior to earn recognition since Nate Thurmond in 1971.
- Klay Thompson and Curry formed the highest-scoring backcourt in the NBA (42.4 ppg) and combined to make more 3-point field goals (484) than any teammate tandem in NBA history, besting their own record of 483 from the previous season.
- Warriors posted a 30-13 record when using opening night starting five of Curry, Thompson, Iguodala, David Lee and Andrew Bogut.
- In the Playoffs, Curry led the team in scoring at 23.0 ppg, as the sixth-seeded Warriors stretched the L.A. Clippers to seven games.

NOTES

- Established a then-franchise record for wins in the regular season, posting a 67-15 (.817) mark.
- Claimed the NBA Championship for the first time in 40 years, marking the fourth title in franchise history.
- The 83 combined wins between regular season and playoffs was, at the time, third-most in NBA history.
- Team posted a 39-2 mark at home, 28-13 on the road, and a 16-game winning streak, all franchise records.
- Stephen Curry was named league MVP, joining Wilt Chamberlain as the only two players in franchise history to win the award.
- Draymond Green (First Team) and Andrew Bogut (Second Team) both earned NBA All-Defensive Team honors.
- Curry (First Team) and backcourt mate Klay Thompson (Third Team) earned All-NBA recognition and were both All-Stars.
- Andre Iguodala started the final three games of the NBA Finals after not starting all season and was named NBA Finals MVP.
- Head Coach Steve Kerr posted the most regular-season victories by any first-year head coach in NBA history.

NOTES

- Established a new NBA record for most wins in the regular season, posting a 73-9 (.890) mark.
- Returned to NBA Finals for second-straight season, falling to Cleveland in seven games.
- Began the season 24-0, marking the best start to a season in major professional sports history.
- Established NBA-record by winning 54-straight home games dating back to previous season.
- Stephen Curry became the NBA's first-ever unanimous MVP selection, winning the award for the second-straight season.
- Curry (First Team), Draymond Green (Second Team) and Klay Thompson (Third Team) earned All-NBA recognition and were all members of the Western Conference All-Star Team... Green also earned First Team All-Defense honors.
- Steve Kerr was named NBA Coach of the Year, becoming the third coach in franchise history to win the award.
- As Kerr missed the first 43 games of season recovering from back surgeries, Assistant Coach Luke Walton guided team to 39-4 start.

NOTES

- The Warriors won their second NBA title in three seasons.
- Became first team in NBA history to win 67 or more games in three consecutive seasons.
- Qualified for the NBA Playoffs in five straight seasons, the franchise's longest streak of postseason berths since 1947-1952.
- Finished with the best outright record in the NBA in three consecutive seasons, the first team to do so since the Boston Celtics from 1983-84 to 1985-86.
- Captured third consecutive Pacific Division title, fifth overall in franchise history.
- With 31 road victories in 2016-17 and an NBA-record 34 in 2015-16, became first team in NBA history to win at least 31 road contests in consecutive seasons.
- The Warriors won 207 regular-season games over the last three seasons, which are the most regular-season wins over a three-season span in NBA history, surpassing the mark of 203 games set by the Chicago Bulls from 1995-96 to 1997-98.
- Had an NBA-record-tying four All-Stars in New Orleans (Curry, Durant, Green, Thompson), marking the eighth time in NBA history that a team had four players appear in the All-Star Game.

NOTES

- Golden State won its sixth NBA title, and became the seventh team in NBA history to win back-to-back championships.
- The Warriors won their third NBA title in four seasons, joining Boston, Chicago and Los Angeles Lakers as the only teams to do so.
- Qualified for the NBA Playoffs in six straight seasons, the franchise's longest streak of postseason berths since 1947-1952.
- Captured fourth consecutive Pacific Division title, sixth overall in franchise history.
- Became the fifth franchise in NBA history to make four consecutive trips to the NBA Finals.
- Finished the regular season with a 58-24 (.707) record, becoming the fifth franchise in NBA history to win 58 games in four-straight seasons and marking their fifth-straight 50-win campaign (ninth in franchise history).
- Won an NBA-record 16-straight playoff home games spanning the 2017 and 2018 postseasons (April 16, 2017, to May 20, 2018).
- Had an NBA-record-tying four All-Stars (Curry, Durant, Green, Thompson) for the second consecutive year, becoming the first team in NBA history to have four players in the All-Star Game in consecutive campaigns and marking just the ninth time in NBA history that a team has had four players appear in the game.
- Led the league in scoring, assists per game, blocks per game, field goal percentage, three-point percentage and free throw percentage, marking the first time a team led the league in all of those categories in a single season.

NOTES

- Golden State made its fifth-straight NBA Finals appearance, joining the Celtics (10 straight, 1957-66) as the only teams in NBA history ever to do so.
- Head Coach Steve Kerr became the first coach in NBA history to advance to the NBA Finals in his first five seasons as head coach.
- Captured fifth consecutive Pacific Division title, seventh overall in franchise history.
- Qualified for the NBA Playoffs in seven straight seasons, the franchise's longest streak of postseason berths.
- Extended their NBA-record streak by winning at least one road game in every playoff series, extending the record to 23-straight series. The streak began with a road victory at Denver in the first round of the 2013 NBA Playoffs.
- Stephen Curry was named to the 2019 All-NBA First Team and Kevin Durant was named to the 2019 All-NBA Second Team.
- Draymond Green & Klay Thompson earned All-Defensive Second Team honors.
- Finished the regular season with a 57-25 (.695) record, becoming the fifth franchise in NBA history to win 57 games in five-straight seasons and marking their sixth-straight 50-win campaign (10th in franchise history).

NOTES

- Golden State played 65 games before the NBA postponed the regular season on March 11, 2020 due to the pandemic... The season restarted in Orlando with 22 teams as the Warriors were among the eight teams that did not participate (Atlanta, Charlotte, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Minnesota, New York).
- On October 24, 2020, the Warriors hosted the Los Angeles Clippers at Chase Center, playing their first regular season game in San Francisco since January 29, 1971 (San Francisco Civic Auditorium).
- The Warriors' streak of consecutive playoff berths ended at a franchise-record seven, and their streak NBA Finals appearances ended at five.
- Rookie forward Eric Paschall was named to the 2020 NBA All-Rookie First Team, becoming the latest draft selection by the Warriors to garner All-Rookie honors, passing Marc Jackson, who was selected 38th overall in 2000.
- The Warriors acquired forward Andrew Wiggins along with a 2021 first-round draft pick (top three protected) and a 2021 second-round draft pick in exchange from the Minnesota Timberwolves for Jacob Evans, D'Angelo Russell and Omari Spellman (February 6, 2020)... Wiggins became the ninth former first overall pick to appear in a game for the Warriors since 1966.
- The Warriors 296 player games missed due to injury or illness... Stephen Curry missed 60 games, the most he has ever missed in a single season in his career (58 due to a left hand fracture and two to influenza)... Draymond Green missed a career-high 22 games... Klay Thompson missed the entire season while rehabilitating his left ACL, an injury suffered in Game 6 of the 2019 NBA Finals.

NOTES

- Golden State finished eighth (39-33) in the Western Conference, advancing to the Play-In Tournament. The Warriors fell to the seventh-seeded Lakers in Los Angeles, 103-100, thanks to LeBron James' 3-pointer with 58.2 seconds left. Stephen Curry scored a game-high 37 points in the loss, which sent the Warriors to a matchup against the Grizzlies, winners against the 10th-seeded Spurs. Memphis ended Golden State's season with a 117-112 win at Chase Center, as Ja Morant tallied a team-high 35 points. Curry had a game-high 39 points and Draymond Green recorded a triple-double with 11 points, 16 rebounds and 10 assists.
- Stephen Curry was named to the 2020-21 All-NBA First Team, his fourth First Team honor and a franchise-best seventh All-NBA Team selection (Second Team: twice and Third Team: once), surpassing Rick Barry's mark of six All-NBA Team selections.
- Stephen Curry led the NBA in scoring (32.0 ppg) and 3-pointers made (337), the fourth-highest single-season total in NBA history.
- Draymond Green was named to the 2020-21 NBA All-Defensive First Team, his fourth First Team selection and franchise-best sixth All-Defensive Team honor, surpassing Nate Thumond's six All-Defensive Team selections.
- Draymond Green averaged a team-high and career-high 8.9 assists, tied third in assists (8.9 apg) and tied third in steals (1.68 spg). Green had the highest assist average among frontcourt players (Nikola Jokic was second, 8.3 apg).
- Golden State led the league in assists (27.7 apg) for the sixth time in the last seven seasons. The Warriors were ranked third in opponent field goal percentage (.452 FG%), and finished with a 109.4 defensive rating, fifth-best in the NBA.
- On May 8, 2021 vs. Oklahoma City, the Warriors set a franchise record for most 3-pointers made (27) and attempted (54), breaking the previous mark of 24 made threes.
- Stephen Curry became the Warriors franchise all-time leader in points, passing Wilt Chamberlain (17,783 points) on April 12 vs. Denver and the all-time leader in assists after overtaking Guy Rodgers (4,855 assists) on March 15, 2021.

NOTES

- Golden State won its seventh NBA championship, and fourth in the last eight years, becoming the first Bay Area professional sports franchise to accomplish the feat, and the third NBA team to do so.
- Stephen Curry was named the Bill Russell NBA Finals Most Valuable Player after averaging 31.2 points (career-best in any Finals), 6.0 rebounds, 5.0 assists and 2.00 steals in 37.5 minutes per game in the 2022 NBA Finals vs. Boston.
- Finished the regular season with a 53-29 (.646) record, third-best record in the Western Conference behind Phoenix and Memphis.
- The Warriors won road games in each of their four playoff series, extending their NBA record to 27 consecutive playoff series with at least one road victory.
- Stephen Curry, who became the NBA's all-time leader in 3-pointers made, became the first player in NBA history to make 3,000 career 3-pointers. For the seventh time in his career and for the second straight season, Curry led the league in 3-pointers made (285).
- Stephen Curry made his eighth career All-Star appearance (all starts), Andrew Wiggins was voted a starter for the first time in his career and Draymond Green was named a reserve, his fourth career selection, but did not play due to injury.
- Klay Thompson returned to the lineup on January 9, 2022 vs. Cleveland, for the first time since June 13, 2019, Game 6 of the 2019 NBA Finals, a span of 941 days.
- Kevon Looney played in a career-high 104 games (82 regular season and 22 playoff games), the most by any player in the NBA this season.
- Jordan Poole led the NBA in free throw percentage (.925), edging teammate Stephen Curry (.923), marking just the fourth time in NBA history teammates finished first and second in free throw percentage.

NOTES

- The Warriors beame the first defending champions to overcome a 2-0 deficit in a playoff series to win, outlasting the Sacramento Kings in seven games in the First Round, but fell to the Lakers, 4-2, in the conference semifinals.
- Two record playoff streaks came to an end - The Warriors had won at least one road game in 28 consecutive playoff series (an NBA record) and had won 19 consecutive playoff series against conference teams (longest such streak since the NBA instituted Western and Eastern Conferences in 1970-71).
- Golden State made its 37th playoff appearance in franchise history and the ninth in the last 11 years after finishing the regular season with a 44-38 record.
- Klay Thompson led the NBA in 2022-23 with a single-season career-high 301 3-pointers, becoming the third player in NBA history to make at least 300 3-pointers in a single season, joining Stephen Curry (four times) and James Harden (once).
- Kevon Looney grabbed a single-season career high and league-leading 274 offensive rebounds, becoming the first Warrior to lead the NBA in that category since Erick Dampier with 344 in 2003-04.
- Stephen Curry extended his NBA-record 3-point streak to 245 consecutive regular season games.
- Kevon Looney played in all 82 regular season contests for the second-straight season, becoming the 10th Warriors player to play at least 82 games in two-or-more consecutive seasons.

2021 PLAY-IN TOURNAMENT

The Warriors finished the 2020-21 season with Play-In Tournament losses to the Lakers and Grizzlies, preventing a playoff appearance. On May 18, 2021, LeBron James recorded a triple-double (22 points, 11 rebounds, 10 assists) and the game-winning 3-pointer with 58.2 seconds left to help lift the #7 seed Lakers to a 103-100 win over the #8 seed Warriors at Staples Center in the "Seven-Eight" game of the Play-In Tournament to advance to the playoffs and a first-round meeting with the #2 seed Phoenix Suns. On May 21, 2021, Ja Morant scored a team-high 35 points to help the #9 seed Grizzlies overcome a 39-point effort from Stephen Curry and a triple-double from Draymond Green to secure the #8 seed in the NBA Playoffs and eliminate the Warriors from the postseason with a 117-112 overtime win at Chase Center. The Grizzlies secured a first-round series against the #1 seed Utah Jazz.

On the last day of the regular season the Warriors secured the #8 seed in the Play-In Tournament with a 113-101 win over the Grizzlies on May 16, 2021.

GRIZZLIES 117, WARRIORS 112

CHASE CENTER, SAN FRANCISCO, CA

May 21, 2021 -- Ja Morant scored a team-high 35 points to help the #9 seed Grizzlies overcome a 39-point effort from Stephen Curry and a triple-double from Draymond Green to secure the #8 seed in the NBA Playoffs and eliminate the Warriors from the postseason with a 117-112 overtime win at Chase Center.

The Warriors overcame a 17-point second-quarter deficit and a 10-point deficit with 3:36 left in the fourth quarter, tying the score at 97-all with 1:12 left in the fourth quarter thanks to a 12-2 run. The Grizzlies retook the lead, 99-97, with 54.9 seconds remaining but Andrew Wiggins' alley-oop layup tied the score at 99-99 with 33.2 seconds left. The Warriors forced the Grizzlies into a shot violation, but Draymond Green missed a floater in the lane, sending the game into overtime. Memphis led, 107-103, with 3:11 left in overtime, but the Warriors went on a 6-0 spurt to take a 109-107 advantage with 1:50 left, matching the Warriors' largest lead of the game. A 3-pointer by Xavier Tillman and consecutive baskets by Morant gave the Grizzlies a 114-109 lead with 4.5 seconds left. Jordan Poole buried a 3-pointer, but a 3-point play by Desmond Bane sealed the Grizzlies win, sending them to a first-round playoff matchup against the top-seed Utah Jazz.

Wiggins finished with 22 points. Green recorded 11 points, a game-high 16 rebounds and 10 assists. Poole contributed 19 points off the bench. Kent Bazemore had 10 points. For the Grizzlies, five other players scored in double figures: Dillon Brooks (14), Grayson Allen (12), Tillman (11), Bane (10), Jaren Jackson Jr. (10). Jonas Valanciunas grabbed a team-high 12 rebounds.

LAKERS 103, WARRIORS 100 — STAPLES CENTER, LOS ANGELES, CA

May 18, 2021 -- LeBron James recorded a triple-double (22 points, 11 rebounds, 10 assists) and the game-winning 3-pointer with 58.2 seconds left to help lift the No. 7 seed Lakers to a 103-100 win over the No. 8 seed Warriors at Staples Center in the "Seven-Eight" game of the Play-In Tournament to advance to the playoffs and a first-round meeting with the No. 2 seed Phoenix Suns.

Stephen Curry made a 3-pointer with 0.6 seconds left before the half to give the Warriors a 13-point advantage, 55-42, their largest lead of the game. The Warriors led, 72-60, with 5:07 left in the third quarter, but the Lakers outscored the Warriors, 17-7, to pull within two, 79-77, at the end of the quarter. An 8-0 run to open the fourth quarter gave the Lakers their first lead of the game, 85-79. An Anthony Davis dunk with 1:31 left put the Lakers ahead, 100-98. Golden State tied the score at 100-all on two free throws by Curry with 1:23 remaining prior to James' game-winner.

Curry made six 3-pointers en route to a game-high 37 points. Andrew Wiggins scored 21 points. Kent Bazemore and Jordan Poole each tallied 10 points. Kevon Looney grabbed a game-high 13 rebounds, 11 coming in the first half. Davis led the Lakers with 25 points and 12 rebounds. Alex Caruso contributed 14 points off the bench. Dennis Schroder added 12 points and Kentavious Caldwell-Pope had 10 points.

WARRIORS UPCOMING DRAFT PICK STATUS

GOLDEN STATE'S 2024 DRAFT SELECTIONS

Golden State Warriors first-round pick is owed to Memphis Grizzlies (protected Top 4) - Iguodala trade, 7/7/19[1].

Golden State Warriors second-round pick is owed to the Houston Rockets (if selection falls to 31-55) or Cleveland Cavaliers (56-60) - draft pick trade with Atlanta, 6/20/19[2].

GOLDEN STATE'S 2025 DRAFT SELECTIONS

Golden State Warriors own first-round pick unless had a Top 4 pick in 2024 NBA Draft, in which case, goes to Memphis - Iguodala trade, 7/7/192.

Golden State Warriors second-round pick is owed to Brooklyn - D'Angelo Russell trade, 7/7/19[3].

Golden State may receive second-round pick from the Charlotte Hornets (protected Top 55) - Brad Wanamaker trade, 3/25/21[4].

1. Golden State's first-round pick to Memphis protected for selections 1-4 in 2024 and 1 in 2025 and unprotected in 2026 [Golden State-Memphis, 7/7/19, Warriors traded Andre Iguodala and a protected first-round draft pick to the Memphis Grizzlies in exchange for Julian Washburn]

2. Golden State's 2024 second-round pick to Houston (via Atlanta) protected for selections 56-60 or to Cleveland (via Atlanta to Houston) protected for selections 31-55 (Golden State's obligation to Houston or Cleveland will thereafter be extinguished) [Atlanta-Golden State, 6/20/19; Atlanta-Denver-Houston-Minnesota, 2/5/20; Cleveland-Houston, 1/22/21].

3. The Warriors acquired guard D'Angelo Russell, along with guard Shabazz Napier and forward Treveon Graham, in a sign-and-trade transaction that sent free agent forward Kevin Durant and a protected first-round draft pick to the Brooklyn Nets on 7/7/19.

4. The Warriors traded Brad Wanamaker, a 2022 second-round draft pick (from Toronto via Philadelphia; top 54 protected) and cash considerations to the Charlotte Hornets in exchange for a 2025 second round draft pick (top 55 protected) on 3/25/21.

WARRIORS IN THE NBA DRAFT LOTTERY

The Golden State Warriors have been involved in the NBA Draft Lottery 23 times in the 38 years since its inception in 1985. In 2021, with the Warriors acquiring the Minnesota Timberwolves' lottery pick (No. 7 overall) and possessing their own pick (14th overall), it marked the first time in Warriors franchise history they had two Lottery Draft picks. Jonathan Kuminga (G League Ignite) was selected seventh overall and Moses Moody at 14.

The Warriors have "moved up" in the draft via the lottery on three occasions, "dropped down" nine times and held their ground 10 times (including eight of the last nine times) during the annual ping-pong ball drop. Here is a look at how the club has fared in its 22 lottery experiences, including its pre-lottery draft position (based on previous year's record), eventual draft position and selection:

Shortly after purchasing the Golden State Warriors in November of 2010, Co-Executive Chairman & CEO Joe Lacob and Co-Executive Chairman Peter Guber vowed to improve the team's development of young players. In an effort to help that process, the Warriors purchased the Dakota Wizards franchise of the NBA G League in the summer of 2011, forging a one-on-one relationship between the two clubs and giving the Warriors total control over the roster, coaching staff and business operations of the G League team.

In the summer of 2012, the Warriors announced their intention to move the G League team to Northern California and rebrand the club as the Santa Cruz Warriors. Having the team in close proximity to the parent club allows the Warriors to easily monitor their players who are on assignment in the G League, while also making it easier for players and staff to travel between the two clubs.

On October 10, 2012, the NBA G League officially approved the relocation of the club from Bismarck, ND, to Northern California for the 2012-13 campaign. In the matter of 78 days, the Warriors built Kaiser Permanente Arena, a 2,500-seat facility located in downtown Santa Cruz, and were ready to play their inaugural season in Surf City.

The team, which is celebrating its 11th season in Northern California, made an instant connection with the Santa Cruz and central coast communities, playing in front of a passionate fan base that has sold out 110 consecutive home games dating back to the 2015-16 season, the longest active streak among G League teams.

On the court, the Warriors advanced to the NBA G League Finals in each of their first three seasons and won the 2015 G League Championship. On the development side, Santa Cruz saw four players – Antonius Cleveland, Quinn Cook, Damion Lee and Georges Niang – earn GATORADE Call-Ups in 2017-18, bringing the franchise total to 18 players earning 31 Call-Ups. Santa Cruz earned the 2013-14 NBA G League "Development Champion" Award, which recognizes the G League team that best embodies the league's goals of developing NBA basketball talent via GATORADE Call-Ups and assignments.

In addition to player call-ups, front office and coaching staff members have moved from Santa Cruz to Golden State. Kent Lacob, who served as Santa Cruz's general manager for three seasons, was promoted to the Golden State Warriors director, team development in August 2019. Aaron Miles, who was Santa Cruz's head coach for two seasons, was named as a player development coach for the Golden State Warriors prior to the 2019-20 season. Former Head Coach Kris Weems and GM Ryan Atkinson were named Golden State Warriors player development coach and director, team development, respectively. Most recently, Seth Cooper and David Fatoki were named Director, Player Development with Golden State for the 2023-24 season. Cooper spent the previous two seasons as head coach of the Santa Cruz Warriors, while Fatoki served as the team's general manager.

Off the court, the Santa Cruz Warriors earned the NBA G League Franchise of the Year award for their excellence in business operations during the 2017-18, 2020-21, and 2021-22 seasons. Santa Cruz was also named the "Business of the Year" by the Santa Cruz Chamber of Commerce in 2016 for their contributions to building the economic vitality, prosperity and quality of life in Santa Cruz County.

CHRIS MURPHY
Santa Cruz Warriors, President
Golden State Warriors, Senior Vice President, Franchise Development

Chris Murphy transitioned into a newly formed role during the 2021-22 season of Senior Vice President, Franchise Development for the Golden State Warriors, while continuing to serve as the President of the Santa Cruz Warriors. In Murphy's role as Senior Vice President, Franchise Development, he oversees the Santa Cruz Warriors, the new arena project in Santa Cruz and the Warriors Esports efforts across four different games.

During his time as Santa Cruz Warriors President, Murphy has spearheaded the front office efforts to win the NBA G League Franchise of the Year award during the 2021-22, 2020-21 and the 2017-18 NBA G League seasons, which honors the organization that best exemplifies the league's core pillars: Compete with Intensity, Lead with Integrity, and Inspire Play. Murphy was also named the NBA G League Executive of the Year in 2017-18 and led the Santa Cruz Warriors to 110-consective sellouts at Kaiser Permanente Arena, home of the Santa Cruz Warriors, a streak dating from March 2016 until February 2022.

Murphy began his career in the Golden State Warriors organization in June 2005 as a group sales account executive. Throughout 10 seasons with Golden State, he progressed and served in multiple capacities within the ticket sales management group, last serving as senior director of group ticket sales before transitioning to Santa Cruz.

Outside of his responsibilities within the Warriors organization, Murphy serves on the NBA G League's Executive Committee, as well as the Sponsorship and Merchandise Committees, and the NBA 2K League Business Council. Murphy also serves as a Board Member for the Santa Cruz County Chamber of Commerce, as Board Secretary for the Community Foundation of Santa Cruz County, and as a Board Member for the Downtown Management Corporation of Santa Cruz. Murphy was named 2022 Person of the Year by the Santa Cruz Chamber of Commerce. He is also a member of the Rotary Club of Santa Cruz.

A graduate of Le Moyne College in Syracuse, New York, Murphy currently resides in Santa Cruz with his wife Yoyo, eight-year-old son Connor, and six-year-old daughter Taylor. In his free time, he enjoys spending time with family and friends, golfing and being outdoors.

DAVID FATOKI

Director, Player Development

David Fatoki is entering his first season as Director, Player Development with the Golden State Warriors and will continue to oversee basketball operations in Santa Cruz in this new role. This marks Fatoki's eighth overall season with the Warriors franchise. In Fatoki's first season, the team finished as the Western Conference sixth seed, earned a spot in the NBA G League playoffs. Under Fatoki's guidance, four players earned NBA callups including 2022 NBA Champion Quinndary Weatherspoon with the Golden State Warriors.

Fatoki started his Warriors tenure in Santa Cruz as the Basketball Operations Coordinator/Player Development Coach during the 2016-17 season and Basketball Operations Manager during the 2017-18 season before transitioning to the Assistant Manager of Basketball Operations and GSW Ventures at Golden State.

Fatoki graduated from Washington University in St. Louis with a degree in Finance, Entrepreneurship, and Computer Science. Fatoki was a point guard for the Bears basketball team and earned first-team All-UAA his senior year along with being team captain. Fatoki played one season of professional basketball in Murcia, Spain in 2016.

Prior to working in the NBA, Fatoki was a Management Consulting Analyst for Accenture in the greater St. Louis area.

Fatoki is originally from Hazelcrest, Illinois and was a two-year letter winner in basketball and baseball at Homewood-Flossmoor High School.

NICHOLAS KERR

Head Coach

Nicholas Kerr is entering his first season as head coach after spending the previous two seasons as an assistant coach with the Santa Cruz Warriors. Kerr spent the three seasons prior with Golden State in video and player development. Kerr was responsible for overseeing and organizing film on both Golden State and their opponents, producing video projects and scouting breakdowns. He also worked on court with the player development team, working closely with Gary Payton II and Marquese Chriss.

Prior to Golden State, Kerr worked for the San Antonio Spurs as a quality assurance assistant where he was responsible for video operations regarding opponents' games, as well as assisting on court with the player development staff.

Kerr graduated from the University of San Diego and played for the Toreros' basketball team. He earned a master's degree at the University of California, Berkeley and was a basketball graduate assistant for the Golden Bears.

Kerr grew up in San Diego, CA, and is the son of Golden State Warriors head coach Steve Kerr.

THE SANTA CRUZ WARRIORS CAPTURED THEIR FIRST G LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP IN 2015

BRANDON ROSENTHAL

Assistant Coach

Brandon Rosenthal is entering his first season with Santa Cruz after spending four seasons with Arizona State University, most recently as an assistant coach. Prior to Arizona State, Rosenthal spent three seasons in the Phoenix Suns organization. In his first season with the Suns, Rosenthal was an assistant coach for the former G League affiliate of the Suns, the Northern Arizona Suns. Rosenthal also had stops with the Houston Rockets organization and at Santa Clara University.

Rosenthal earned his Bachelor's Degree in Sport Management from St. John Fisher College in 2010 and a Masters of Arts in Teaching Degree from St. Edwards University in 2012.

NOEL HIGHTOWER

Assistant Coach

Noel Hightower is entering his second season with the Santa Cruz Warriors after spending the previous season as an assistant for on court player development for the Indiana Pacers.

Prior to the Pacers, Hightower spent five years as an assistant coach at Lehigh University. Hightower was a two-sport athlete (basketball and track/field) at Chestnut Hill College in Philadelphia before attending Lehigh University to earn his Master's in Education, Leadership and Administration.

Hightower grew up in Easton, Pennsylvania.

BRACEY WRIGHT

Assistant Coach/Player Development

Bracey Wright is entering his first season with Santa Cruz as an assistant coach/player development after serving as a coach with Warriors Basketball Academy in 2023.

Wright was selected by the Minnesota Timberwolves with the 47th overall pick in the 2005 NBA Draft following his junior season at Indiana University. He spent two seasons with the Timberwolves before playing internationally for more than a decade.

Wright played college basketball for the Indiana University Hoosiers from 2002–2004.

GATORADE CALL-UPS

All 28 NBA G League teams are singly affiliated with an NBA franchise, but that does not mean that NBA franchises own exclusive rights to all of the players on their NBA G League roster (like in Major League Baseball). Outside of Two-Way Players and players on NBA Assignment, the majority of players in the NBA G League are available for any of the 30 NBA teams to sign (call up); these NBA G League players have signed contracts with the league rather than their individual team, so by NBA standards they are technically free agents. This is why, for example, the Miami Heat could call up a Memphis Grizzlies "prospect" from the Grizzlies' affiliate -- as they did in 2014 when they signed center Hassan Whiteside.

There are three types of players on NBA G League rosters whose rights are exclusively owned by NBA teams:

1) Assignees -- An NBA team can assign a player from its big-league roster to its NBA G League affiliate. This player remains under contract with the assigning NBA team and can be recalled by only that team.

2) Two-Way Players -- Beginning in the 2017 offseason, NBA rosters expanded from 15 to 17 players with the addition of two spots for players under "Two-Way Contracts." NBA teams may have up to two players under NBA Two-Way Contracts who will spend the bulk of the season in the NBA G League and no more than 45 days with their NBA team. Two-Way players are paid a corresponding daily amount based on the number of days they play in each league. Only players with four or fewer years of NBA service are able to sign Two-Way Contracts, which can be for either one or two seasons.

3) Draft Rights Players -- An NBA team can acquire a player in the NBA Draft, decline to sign him to an NBA contract and instead allow him to sign with the NBA G League. In that case, the NBA team's NBA G League affiliate can acquire that player directly, bypassing the usual NBA G League player selection processes. The other exception to this rule lies in players who enter the G League as a path to the NBA Draft. NBA G League players who still have NBA Draft eligibility cannot be called up to the NBA.

WARRIORS NBA G LEAGUE ASSIGNMENT & CALL-UP HISTORY

NBA players in the first three years of their careers may be assigned to their NBA G League affiliate an unlimited number of times, according to the NBA Collective Bargaining Agreement. Additionally, players beyond the first three years of their NBA careers may be assigned to their NBA G League affiliate with their consent and the consent of the National Basketball Players Association. With the Warriors G League team located in close proximity to the parent club, players in recent years have been assigned to the G League not only for games, but also to get additional practice time.

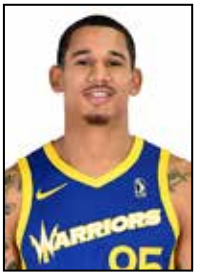

The NBA's official minor league, the NBA G League prepares players, coaches, officials, trainers and front-office staff for the NBA while acting as the league's research and development laboratory. The league, which began in 2001-02, features 31 teams - 29 teams with direct affiliations with NBA franchises, for the 2023-24 season. During the 2022-23 season, a record 47 percent of players (234 of 499) on start-of-season NBA rosters, including those under NBA two-way contracts, had NBA G League experience.

TWO-WAY CONTRACTS

Beginning in the 2017 offseason, NBA rosters expanded from 15 to 17 players with the addition of two spots for players under "Two-Way Contracts." For the 2023-24 season, each NBA team is permitted to have up to three players under Two-Way Contracts on its roster at any time (in addition to the maximum 15 players under Standard NBA Contracts).

NBA teams may have up to three players under NBA Two-Way Contracts who may be active for up to 50 games with their NBA team. Players signed to Two-Way Contracts are paid one salary for their time in both leagues. Only players with three or fewer years of NBA service are able to sign Two-Way Contracts, which can be for either one or two seasons..

WARRIORS IN THE COMMUNITY

About NBA Cares

NBA Cares is the league's global social responsibility program that builds on the NBA's mission of addressing important social issues. NBA Cares has provided more than 6.5 million hours of hands-on service and created more than 2,195 places where kids and families can live, learn or play in 40 countries and territories. NBA Cares partners with renowned social impact organizations to address important social issues in the areas of education, inclusion, youth and family development, and health & wellness, including: Boys & Girls Clubs of America, Vera Institute of Justice, Thurgood Marshall College Fund, UNICEF, Special Olympics, The Jed Foundation, Share Our Strength and GLSEN.

WARRIORS COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

The Golden State Warriors Community Foundation, the philanthropic arm of the Golden State Warriors, is committed to supporting educational equity for underserved Bay Area youth. Since its inception in 2012, the Foundation has delivered over $30 million in economic impact to support educational equity and youth development in the Bay Area. This includes their annual education grants to nonprofits in Alameda and San Francisco Counties, the season-long Hoops 4 Kids (warriors.com/kids) and Free Throws for Futures (warriors.com/freethrows) programs, Generation Thrive, basketball court renovations, and ticket donations.

To date, the Foundation has rebuilt more than 90 public basketball courts around the Bay Area, helping to revitalize local communities with safe and clean places for families and youth to enjoy the game of basketball.

Finally, the Foundation has donated over 20,000 tickets to schools and nonprofits that serve low-income children, helping to share the joy and excitement of Warriors home games.

The Foundation is sustained by generous contributions from Warriors owners, players, partners, and fans.

GENERATION thrive

KAISER PERMANENTE

GENERATION THRIVE

The Warriors Community Foundation and Kaiser Permanente partnered in 2019 to create Generation Thrive – the first-of-its-kind nonprofit hub that supports Bay Area nonprofit organizations and educators.

Programming for Bay Area educators

Over 220 hours of free professional development and wellness workshops for the Bay Area educator community in three key areas: health and resilience, nonprofit capacity building, and teacher trainings. For example, Generation Thrive hosts basketball clinics for educators, as well as affinity groups for people of color to support connection and restorative practices.

Since 2020, Generation Thrive has reached over 7,000 and served 4,500 Bay Area educators and nonprofit practitioners.

Generation Thrive fosters professional learning communities by providing over 50 hours of leadership development for 16 executive and c-suite leaders through the annual Bridging the Bay program, presented by Rocket Lawyer.

Bay Area School District Support

- Over 50 teachers celebrated and recognized as part of annual celebrations in community (e.g. Alameda County Teacher of the Year Awards, Urban League Family Day, etc)
- Annual Tree Giveaway for Willie Brown Middle School (the Warriors Community Foundation adopted school in the San Francisco's Bayview neighborhood)
- School supplies donated as part of our Back to School efforts to over 300 Bay Area Teachers

Community Spaces

Generation Thrive hosts youth-serving nonprofit organizations at the Golden State Warriors on-site facility in Oakland and Thrive City in San Francisco on the Golden State Warriors Chase Center campus. To date, over 6000 hours of free office and meeting space have been given to Bay Area educators and non-profit organizations for networking, professional development opportunities, team retreats, and more.

WARRIORS IN THE COMMUNITY

The Warriors are committed to taking an active interest in the well-being of our community and to be great corporate citizens. We strive to develop life-long fans of the game of basketball through cause-marketing programs and initiatives and are dedicated to improving the quality of life for those that are underserved in our community. During the 2022-23 Season we held over 80 community events within our four pillars of Education, Health & Wellness, Civic Engagement, and Economic Development.

GOLDEN STATE WARRIORS COMMUNITY PILLARS

EDUCATION: The Warriors invest in educational programs to promote equity of life outcomes driven by education attainment. The intended outcomes of our educational programs are to:

- Increase the number of Bay Area youth of color engaged in high quality educational experiences in STEAM and literacy
- Increase the number of Bay Area youth of color on track to complete college
- Increase the number of Bay Area youth of color exposed to a variety of career pathways

COMMUNITY HEALTH & WELLNESS: The Warriors support a variety of physical and mental health and wellness initiatives that promote resilient communities where all people can thrive. The intended outcomes of our health & wellness programs are to:

- Increase the physical health and mental resilience in Bay Area communities of color
- Increase the quality and quantity of community spaces in underserved Bay Area neighborhoods that promote wellness

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT: The Warriors support and patronize businesses led by entrepreneurs of color, and initiatives that strengthen local economic development in the Bay Area, including workforce and job training. The intended outcomes of our economic development programs are to:

- Increase access to jobs for workers in the Bay Area
- Increase self-sufficiency of Bay Area communities of color
- Support and increase the number of successful entrepreneurs of color in the Bay Area

CIVIC ENGAGEMENT: The Warriors seek to dismantle structural and systemic racism by using our platform to engage voters, and to amplify and support public policy promoting equity. The intended outcomes of our civic engagement programs are to:

- Increase the number of people participating in the Election and pledging to vote
- Increase participation in policy dialogue and public discussion (ie. Engagement with law enforcement, lawmakers, etc.)

READ TO ACHIEVE (EDUCATION)

The Warriors, in partnership with Ross, highlights and supports youth literacy in the community with school activations and programs. Literacy is a pressing challenge in the Bay Area. Only a third of Bay Area students can read at or above their grade-level and significate equity gaps persist across racial and economic lines. This has profound consequences for the futures of our students, communities, and our city.

ADDITIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAMS

- Back to School in the Bay
- Basketball Decoded
- Bay Area All-Star Scholarship Team
- Future Leaders
- Learning Without Limits
- Mentoring Month

PEACEFUL WARRIORS (COMMUNITY HEALTH & WELLNESS)
The Warriors, in partnership with Adobe, aim to inspire mental wellness for elementary-aged students through creativity and self-expression. The Peaceful Warriors program is designed to inspire, empower, and equip young people with the tools to thrive in social circumstances through creativity, while simultaneously fostering a nurturing holistic approach to uplift and transform school culture to become inclusive, safe, supportive and creative environment for all.

ADDITIONAL HEALTH & WELLNESS PROGRAMS
- Pass the Plate
- Season of Giving
- Swishes for Dishes
- Thrive City Community Clinics

FRANCHISE FUND (ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT)
Franchise Fund is a four-month grant program created by the Golden State Warriors, United Airlines, and the Western Region Minority Supplier Development Council (WRMSDC) aimed to prepare minority small business owners to work with multinational corporations. Graduating businesses will receive the certification they need to get exposure, help their communities, and take advantage of future business opportunities.

CIVIC ENGAGEMENT PROGRAMS
- Helping Hands
- Hoops for Troops
- Voters Campaign

Free Throws beneficiaries included Blueprint Schools Network Math Fellows Program, Students Rising Above, Techbridge Girls, and Urban Ed Academy.

• 1 COURT RENOVATED
In 2022-23, the Warriors Community Foundation collaborated with the Institute of Contemporary Art San Francisco (ICA SF), Alive & Free – Omega Boys Club and the Good Tidings Foundation to refurbish a basketball court at Alive & Free, a community court in the Dogpatch neighborhood of San Francisco. The renovation work included a brand new playing surface and artistic court mural, along with new rims and nets. The court will support local youth and encourage healthy activity and play. The Foundation has refurbished over 90 courts since 2012.

• 940,000 DOLLARS IN DONATED TICKETS
During the 2022-23 season, the Foundation received over 1,400 donated tickets and suites valued at $940,000 to offer to over 100 non-profits and youth serving organizations.

WARRIORS BASKETBALL ACADEMY

Warriors Basketball Academy, powered by Rakuten, has evolved into one of the most impactful youth basketball programs in the NBA. A member of the Jr. NBA's Flagship Network, Warriors Basketball Academy has been deemed one of 18 best-in-class youth basketball organizations in the country that share the Jr. NBA's vision for how the game should be taught. Operating out of the Warriors former practice facility in Oakland, Warriors Basketball Academy made significant upgrades to provide improved skill development and training options for participants. The Warriors Basketball Facility in Oakland is the first NBA team-owned facility in the U.S. dedicated to youth basketball development.

In addition to programming at the Oakland facility, Warriors Basketball Academy continues to impact the Bay Area youth basketball landscape by facilitating longstanding programs, Warriors Basketball Camp and the Junior Warriors Basketball League, throughout the region.

Warriors Basketball Camp, powered by Rakuten, has attracted over 75,000 youth to participate in hundreds of sessions in over 30 cities around the Bay Area, plus a camp on Oahu, Hawaii. In addition to campers from throughout the U.S., the team has hosted youth from six different continents - Africa, Asia, Australia, Europe, North America and South America. During the summer of 2023, Warriors Basketball Camp conducted in-person summer sessions registering over 4,100 youth from 25 different states and 13 different countries including Canada, China, Columbia, Dominican Republic, Germany, Israel, France, Japan, Mexico, Switzerland, Taiwan and the Netherlands. A handful of Warriors Basketball Camp alumni have gone on to play professionally both in the NBA and overseas. Former Warriors forward Juan Toscano-Anderson is the third former participant to play in the NBA, the first to have played for the Golden State Warriors and the first to win an NBA Championship.

This past summer, Warriors Basketball Camp conducted 36 in-person sessions at 23 Bay Area locations for youth ages 8-17. The schedule was highlighted by two outdoor sessions, at Thrive City, the community gathering space surrounding Chase Center, and seven sessions at the team's Oakland facility that integrated Shoot 360 technology. The Overnight Camp was another highlight that featured current Warriors and 2022 NBA Champions – Kevon Looney, Moses Moody and Gary Payton II. The Overnight Camp was held at the Warriors Basketball Facility in Oakland.

The Junior Warriors Basketball League offers a unique basketball experience for Bay Area youth, ages 5-17. Through partnerships with local youth agencies, the Warriors aim to enhance existing leagues by providing special benefits for all participants, including reversible jerseys and shorts, headbands, certificates of participation and ticket options for Warriors home games. The league also offers a Coaches Clinic, featuring members of the Warriors coaching staff, for all volunteer coaches participating in the program. Over 230,000 Bay Area youth have been able to participate in the Junior Warriors Basketball League since its inception in 2000.

Warriors Basketball Facility in Oakland provides youth access to a year-round skill development and performance enhancement training space 7-days per week. The features of the facility include programs such as private training, skill development classes, and birthday workouts in addition to daily access via Shoot 360, the newly installed performance technology that allows participants the ability to test, train and track every component of their workout. Shooting courts allow participants to get instant performance analytics in real time via live shot charts showing shot arc, shot depth and left/right differential, while the skill courts provide interactive ball-handling. Passing simulators engage participants by tracking and grading their performance. To compliment the technology, the Warriors Basketball Academy staff engages and assists with participants during their workouts. Warriors Basketball Academy is the first youth basketball program in the NBA to feature Shoot 360 technology.

More information can be found online at www.gswacademy.com.

SHOOT 360

Eligibility: Grades 3-12

A new component within Warriors Basketball Academy, this technology will increase the skill level of our participants by measuring and tracking shooting percentage, left/right accuracy, shot arc, and shot depth of every athletes' shot. The skill courts will enable our participants to follow a virtual trainer to put their ball-handling and passing skills to the test.

SHOOTING

Take your shooting skills to new levels with Shoot 360! Test, train and track your shot like never before!

PASSING

Put your passing skills to the test and experience the world's first high-tech passing skill court. You'll develop better accuracy, speed and timing with your passes.

BALL-HANDLING

Improve your ball-handling skills with our virtual trainer who will lead you through a series of guided workouts.

BUSINESS OPERATIONS

BRANDON SCHNEIDER

President & Chief Operating Officer

The 2023-24 NBA season will mark Brandon Schneider's 22nd season with the Warriors organization, and his third as the team's president and chief operating officer. In this role, Schneider reports to Co-Executive Chairman & CEO Joe Lacob and Co-Executive Chairman Peter Guber, and oversees all business-related operations for the Warriors, including Chase Center and Thrive City, a privately financed sports and entertainment district in San Francisco's Mission Bay neighborhood that opened in September 2019. Schneider was promoted to his current role in April of 2021, following three years as the chief revenue officer.

In his tenure as President and Chief Operating Officer, the Warriors have elevated both the organization and the sports business industry to new heights. Valued at over $7.5 billion—the second most valuable professional sports team in the world—the Warriors have continued to lead the NBA in all major revenue metrics, including ticket sales, partnerships, viewership ratings and merchandise. Additionally, the organization launched an original content arm, Golden State Entertainment, a first-of-its-kind for a professional sports team. Golden State Entertainment has produced two documentaries to-date, including 38 AT THE GARDEN, an award-winning piece that highlights the plight of Asian-Americans in the country, as told through the rise of NBA player Jeremy Lin.

In his three years as chief revenue officer, Schneider was responsible for strategic planning and execution related to all of the organization's sales and activation efforts at Chase Center including tickets, suites, and corporate partnerships. He oversaw the team's digital and marketing teams as well as philanthropic efforts led by the community relations group and the Warriors Community Foundation of which he sits on the board. He managed the team's retail business both online and at Chase Center, and worked to create the best overall fan experience at Chase Center. Schneider also oversaw the Warriors' NBA G League team, the Santa Cruz Warriors. Prior to assuming chief revenue officer, Schneider served four seasons as senior vice president, business development; two seasons as group vice president, ticket sales and services; and three seasons as vice president, ticket sales and services. Schneider originally joined the Warriors in the summer of 2002 as a season ticket account executive before being promoted to ticket sales manager in June of 2004 and assistant director of ticket sales the following April.

Under Schneider's leadership the Warriors' season ticket base has grown to a capped-out level of 12,000 seats, and he spearheaded a successful renewal strategy that has resulted in a 90-percent plus season ticket renewal rate in each of the past six seasons. The Warriors launched a Priority Wait List for season tickets prior to the 2013-14 season, and that list has grown to more than 40,000 members who are committed to purchasing season tickets if/when they become available. He pushed the organization to successfully adopt a dynamic ticket pricing model prior to the 2011-12 campaign, and mirrored the innovative model on the suite level shortly thereafter. He led the Warriors to a franchise-record 377-game-and-counting sellout streak by the end of the 2019-20 season, during which the Warriors received a league-leading five "best in industry" awards at the 2019 NBA Sales and Marketing Meetings.

During his tenure with the Warriors, the organization has been recognized with several prestigious awards, including being named "Franchise of the Decade" among all professional sports teams by Sports Business Journal in 2019. Additionally, the Warriors became the first professional team to win Sports Business Journal's "Sports Team of the Year" award on multiple occasions (2014 and 2016).

Schneider was named to Sports Business Journal's Power Players list in 2018 after being named to the publication's Forty Under 40 list in 2017. These honors followed Schneider's inclusion on Forty Under 40 lists by Diablo Magazine in 2015 and the San Francisco Business Times in 2016. Schneider was heavily involved with the completion of the Warriors' state-of-the-art new arena, Chase Center. A year after its opening in September 2019, Chase Center was named Sports Facility of the Year by Sports Business Journal and has received numerous distinctions and industry awards.

A Bay Area native, Schneider graduated from UCLA in 2001 with a degree in business economics and an accounting minor. A die-hard fan of both the San Francisco 49ers and San Francisco Giants, and an owner of Los Angeles Football Club (LAFC), he lives in Hillsborough with his wife Amanda and their son Tommy.

DONNA DANIELS

Chase Center General Manager

The 2023-24 NBA season marks Donna Daniels' second as Chase Center General Manager, bringing over 31 years of NBA experience—including 25 years at the NBA league office—to her role in San Francisco. She reports directly to Warriors President and Chief Operating Officer, Brandon Schneider.

In her role, Daniels is responsible for all venue operations, including security, event services, food and beverage, special events, content and programming and guest services.

Prior to joining the Warriors and Chase Center, Daniels served as Executive Vice President and General Manager of the Prudential Center at Harris Blitzer Sports & Entertainment. There, she oversaw all Prudential Center operations, including management of the Grammy Museum Experience at Prudential Center. From 2016-19, she held the title of Harris Blitzer Sports & Entertainment Senior Vice President of Business Operations, where she was responsible for all business operations efforts related to revenue generation and operational efficiencies.

Daniels brings over 30 years of experience in the NBA-including 25 years at the league office. She has held various roles within the league, with her most recent being served as Vice President, Team Marketing and Business Operations from 2011-16. Her span at the NBA also included stops as Vice President of Strategic Initiatives (2008-11), Vice President, TMBO (2004-08), Vice President, Team Sponsorship Development (2002-04), Vice President, D-League Marketing (2002), and in 2001, was named Team President of the Roanoke Dazzle, launching one of the NBA D-League's inaugural teams, where she oversaw all business and basketball operations.

Daniels was named a 2023 Game Changer by Sports Business Journal, recognizing women who are leaders in changing the sports industry. In 2019, Crain's New York named Daniels to their Notable Women in Sports Business list and she was named a 2020 VenuesNow Women of Influence. In 2021, ROI New Jersey named Daniels a Women in Sports Business Influencer, and Cynopsis Women in Media named her to their annual Operations Front Runners list. A native of the East Coast, Daniels graduated with her Bachelor of Arts from Hobart & Williams Colleges.

DAVID KELLY

Chief Legal Officer, Business and Basketball
Chief Business Officer, Golden State Entertainment

David Kelly is in his 11th season with the Warriors, sixth as Chief Legal Officer and third as Chief Business Officer of Golden State Entertainment.

In his current role, Kelly is responsible for all legal matters affecting the company (including transactions, disputes and compliance), and all business operations related to Golden State Entertainment. He manages player development, salary cap management and luxury tax planning for the team, oversees the organization's human resources and public/governmental affairs departments, assists with college player scouting, and oversees many of the company's key projects and initiatives on both the business and basketball sides of the company, including legal matters related to the real property acquisition, entitlement, construction and operation of Chase Center and ancillary mixed-use development in San Francisco's Mission Bay neighborhood.

Kelly spearheaded the launch of Golden State Entertainment in early 2022. Golden State Entertainment (GSE) creates original content to tell compelling stories that are both rooted in and transcend the world of sports and entertainment. GSE produces documentaries, collaborates with recording artists on musical releases and marketing and sponsorship opportunities, and hosts culturally relevant events that speak to the Bay Area and the world. GSE is the entertainment and content vertical under the larger company umbrella that encompasses the six-time NBA Champion Golden State Warriors, Santa Cruz Warriors, Chase Center, the Golden Guardians and Warriors Gaming Squad.

Kelly joined the Warriors during the 2011-12 NBA season as vice president and general counsel. He was named general counsel and vice president, basketball management & strategy during 2016 and was then named chief legal officer, business and basketball in 2018.

Prior to joining the Warriors, Kelly was a partner at Katten Muchin Rosenman LLP where he advised clients in connection with public and private acquisitions, securities law compliance, and corporate governance matters. Kelly also provided legal counsel to a variety of sports teams and related clients with respect to television, radio and internet rights agreements, arena/stadium matters, intellectual property issues, and sponsorship and naming rights agreements.

Kelly has a passion for music and his work as a musician has been featured on the CBS Evening News and CNN, and in Time Magazine, the New York Times, the Chicago Tribune and the Wall Street Journal. He has released 8 albums and has toured in the United States, Canada, England, the Netherlands, Sweden, Portugal and Brazil.

A native of Chicago, Kelly earned his Bachelor of Arts degree from Morehouse College in 1996 and his Juris Doctor degree from the University of Illinois College of Law in 2004. He and his wife, Zeenat, have three children.

JOSH PROCTOR

Chief Financial Officer

Josh Proctor is entering his fourth season with the Wariors and Chase Center, having joined the franchise in January 2021 as the team's Chief Financial Officer. Proctor, who has over 24 years of financial management experience, oversees all financial operations, business development, technology, and business analytics for the seven-time NBA Champion Golden State Warriors, Chase Center, the privately financed, 18,000+ seat arena in San Francisco's Mission Bay neighborhood, and Thrive City, the 3.2-acre outdoor district surrounding the venue.

Proctor joins the franchise following six years at Nike, where he most recently served as the Senior Director of North America Strategy. In this role, Proctor led the development of the overall marketplace strategy for the company's largest operating segment. Acting as the chief of staff to Nike's GM of North America, he drove monthly and quarterly business reviews and partnered with the segment CFO to develop the annual operating plan. Proctor joined Nike in 2014 as the Finance Director for Men's Training in North America, where he managed a multi-billion-dollar P&L.

Prior to his time at Nike, Proctor spent four years as the Vice President of Strategic Planning for the San Francisco 49ers. During his tenure, Proctor played a key role in the financing of Levi's Stadium, managing the overall project pro-forma and working closely with the league office/lending group. Additionally, he led the initial concessionaire selection process at Levi's and led the launch of 49ers Gameday Live, the official mobile app for the team. He also brings experiences from multiple stints with the Walt Disney Company, where he most recently served in the company's corporate finance group, as well as strategy and business development roles at Gap Inc.

Proctor graduated from the University of Southern California with a B.S. in Business Administration and Management. He went on to receive his MBA from Stanford University. Proctor spent six years as a board member with the Buck Cardinal Club, the primary fundraising board for Stanford Athletics. His duties included serving as the Board's treasurer, where he developed fiscal fundraising targets and led the creation of financial models for evaluating incremental donor revenue for Stanford's Football Stadium. For his efforts with the Board, he was awarded the Charles Gundelach Award for Inspirational Service in 2014.

JOHN BEAVEN

Chief Revenue Officer

John Beaven is entering his 21st season with the Golden State Warriors, his first as chief revenue officer. In this role, he will oversee the team's ticket sales and service initiatives, marketing, growth and retention, Warriors Community Foundation and Warriors Basketball Academy teams, and franchise development efforts, which include business operations for the Santa Cruz Warriors, the team's G League affiliate, and the Warriors' esports teams, based in Los Angeles.

Beaven spent two years as executive vice president of ticket sales and service, where he was responsible for all aspects of the team's ticket and suite efforts, including strategic planning and execution for season ticket and single game initiatives, customer service, and premium suite sales and service efforts.

Beaven has guided the Warriors' ticket sales and service team to a franchise-record sellout streak of 477 games, dating back to December 2012, which ranks third among active NBA sellout streaks, and seventh all-time. Additionally, the Warriors have renewed more than 90% of their season ticket members for the 10th-consecutive season, and have grown the Dub Club, which provides presale opportunities and other perks, including the eventual opportunity to purchase a season ticket membership, to over 42,000 members.

Under Beaven's leadership, the Warriors Community Foundation announced a 2022-23 season slate of $2.425 million in grants to organizations working to improve educational equity in the Bay Area, the most in a single year since the Foundation's inception in 2012. The Foundation announced an additional $1.39 million, based on stats-based team performance, to 12 additional non-profits focused on educational equity during the 2022-23 season. Additionally, the Foundation has opened two Generation Thrive locations, one being the headquarters in Oakland, to serve and support Bay Area educators through a variety of health and wellness programming and resources.

During the pandemic, Beaven guided the Warriors sales and service teams to think outside the box, navigating building capacity challenges, fan communication regarding health and safety, and season ticket and suite lease logistics. He played a critical role in Operation Dub Nation, a task force that rolled out a first-of-its-kind testing program, requiring all fans to show proof of a negative test before venue entry. The plan included mailing FDA-approved, at-home, molecular COVID-19 tests to fans, in addition to allowing on-site testing.

Leading up to opening Chase Center, Beaven played a key role in the creation and implementation of the team's new, innovative membership program, and oversaw the successful transition of the team's season ticket holder base from Oakland Arena to Chase Center. During his tenure, the Warriors have sold out 377-straight home games, spanning eight seasons. Additionally, Beaven has led efforts to launch SuiteXchange, an industry first authentic and verified suite resale marketplace. In addition to his ticketing responsibilities, Beaven was key in planning and executing the 2018 NBA Championship parade.

Prior to being promoted senior vice president, Beaven served as the team's vice president of ticket sales and service for four seasons, previously serving as the executive director of ticket sales, including in the summer of 2013 when the team surpassed 14,000 season ticket holders for the first time in franchise history. Previously, he also served as the team's director of group sales for three seasons, when he helped double the department's annual sales numbers and managed to eclipse the league benchmark of 3,000 departmental group tickets sold per game for the 2009-10 season. He originally joined the organization in 2003 as a season ticket account executive before being named group sales manager two years later.

A native of London, England, Beaven spent his childhood in New York City and Sacramento, Calif., before receiving his bachelor's degree in general biology from the University of California, San Diego in 2002. Beaven has a daughter, Sara, and currently resides in San Francisco, Calif., with his wife, Tarah, and their son Foster and daughter Starling.

MIKE KITTS

Chief Commerical Officer

Mike Kitts is entering in his 12th season with the Warriors, his first as chief commercial officer. In his current role, Kitts oversees Warriors' partnership sales, development, and insights teams, as well as VIP Services, Premium Sales and Service, and Private Events.

In his two years as Executive Vice President, Partnerships, Kitts was responsible for all partner strategy and revenue, across all company-owned properties: Golden State Warriors (NBA), Chase Center, Santa Cruz Warriors (G League), Golden Guardians (League of Legends) and Warriors Gaming Squad (NBA 2K League). Additionally, Kitts led the partnership vision and development for Chase Center and Thrive City.

Following the 2022-23 NBA season, the Warriors ranked first in the NBA in partnerships revenue for the sixth year in a row, including leading the league in impact-based partnerships revenue, where the Warriors are nine times above league average, and first in digital partnerships, three times the league average.

Under Kitts' guidance, the organization created a robust portfolio of Chase Center Founding Partners, which includes Accenture, Adobe, Google Cloud, Hewlett Packard Enterprise (HPE), Kaiser Permanente, Oracle, PepsiCo, Rakuten, RingCentral, Ticketmaster, United Airlines and Verizon, along with naming rights partner JPMorgan Chase. Under Kitts' guidance, the Warriors became the first team to break the $100 million barrier in partnership revenue in a single season in 2019-20, once again leading the league in corporate partnership revenue.

In 2022, Kitts played a crucial role in leading the organization's efforts to re-sign Rakuten as the team's badge partner, facilitating the NBA's most extensive multi-year partnership renewal. Through strategic planning and execution, Kitts and his team have been a critical component of Rakuten's explosive brand recognition amongst U.S. consumers through the Warriors jersey badge, derived from broadcast, digital and social media impressions.

Kitts joined the Warriors in 2012 as director of partnership sales, before being promoted to vice president in 2017 and senior vice president of partnerships in 2019. His resume includes over 20 years of marketing and sports experience, with stints at Learfield Sports, a sports marketing firm, and the San Diego Sports Commission, where he served as director of business development.

The San Diego native earned his bachelor's degree in business management at Lynn University and his MBA from the sports management program at San Diego State University. He received the honor of "Distinguished Alumni of the Year" at both universities.

AMANDA CHIN

Senior Vice President, Marketing

Amanda Chin is entering her ninth season with the Warriors, first as Senior Vice President, Marketing. In her current role, Chin oversees the team's Marketing Operations, Social Media, Studio, and Game Entertainment teams.

Chin manages the Warriors' marketing strategy and integrated brand campaigns, including the teams on-court identity. She has led several season-long campaigns anchored in the team's uniform design, including the 2022-23 'Empowered' campaign, a homage to women in the community, as depicted with a yellow rose on the team's Nike City Edition uniforms. Her previous notable campaigns include the 2021-22 'Warriors Origins' uniform, a modern-era spin on the team's 1961-62 road uniform, worn to commemorate the franchise's 75th Anniversary, and the 2020-21 'Oakland Forever' City Edition uniform, inspired by the team's uniforms worn during the 1997-2010 seasons, which included the 2007 We Believe playoff run.

Chin led the franchise through its 2019 identity and logo update, which launched during the team's inaugural year at Chase Center, 2019. The refresh reflected a more accurate portrayal of the Bay Bridge, adding in subtle details on the bridge span, to represent the Warriors' standing as the Bay Area's professional basketball team.

During her tenure, the franchise has established itself as a global brand, popularizing campaigns such as Strength In Numbers, putting Chase Center on the map as a top entertainment destination, and setting several digital growth records. With a combined 70 million followers across all social media platforms, the Warriors are the most-followed team in professional sports. While leading the NBA in engagements on Instagram, Facebook and Twitter, the Warriors became the first North American professional sports team to hit the 20, 25 and 30 million followers threshold on Instagram, while being the first team to hit 5 million followers on TikTok. During the 2022-23 NBA season, the Warriors were named 'Best in Sports Social Media' at the Webby Awards, for the team's 2022 NBA Playoffs campaign, "Gold Blooded." Additionally, the team has over 16 million followers combined across three Chinese social media platforms and became the second team in the NBA to launch a native Japanese social media presence on several platforms, resulting in the team receiving the 2022 Hashtag Sports "Excellence in Multicultural Storytelling" award.

During the 2022-23 NBA season, under Chin's guidance, the Warriors Studio team earned two San Francisco/Northern California EMMY Awards, while being nominated for four additional honors. Additionally, the team won 21 TELLY Awards, including four gold, 12 silver, and four bronze, across 11 categories, showcasing the team's work across video, television, production, advertising and publishing.

Chin spent four seasons as Vice President, Marketing, from 2019-2022, and four seasons as Senior Director, Marketing, from 2015-19. She worked for the National Basketball Association (NBA) for three seasons, from 2012-15, in the league's marketing office.

Prior to her time at the NBA, Chin worked at New York-based advertising agencies including, Wieden + Kennedy and Young & Rubicam.

Chin serves as a Board Member of BAYCAT, which works to address racial, gender and economic inequity by creating powerful, authentic media while diversifying the creative industry. Originally from New York, Chin earned her Bachelor's degree in Advertising and Marketing Communications from the State University of New York, FIT.

ERIN DANGERFIELD

Senior Vice President, People and Culture

Erin Dangerfield is entering her sixth season with the Warriors, second as senior vice president, people and culture. Dangerfield brings over 18 years of human resources experience to the role and has worked in a variety of fields including wholesale distribution, real estate, agriculture, non-profit, and now sports and entertainment.

In her current role, Dangerfield oversees the company's talent acquisition, diversity, equity and inclusion, employee experience, learning & development, labor relations, and human resources operations for the approximately 2,500 full-time and part-time employees working across business, arena, basketball, and e-sports operations.

Prior to joining the Warriors, Dangerfield worked at ALCAL Industries, Inc., overseeing the human resources, information technology and business operations functions of the company and managing cross-functional projects, including the opening of a new regional distribution center. Previously she worked for Bently Enterprises where she led the human resources, information technology, marketing, security and design teams across three business units, through acquisition and period of rapid growth.

Dangerfield earned a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration with an emphasis in economics from UNLV, where she ran track as a scholarship athlete.

A native of Oakland, California, and a lifelong Warriors fan, Dangerfield has a passion for the Oakland community. She serves as vice chair of the board of the East Oakland Youth Development Center, where she participated in the Center's programs as a youth and first worked there as a Youth Leader in their Summer Cultural Enrichment Program.

YOYO MURPHY

Senior Vice President, Government and Community Relations

Yoyo Chan Murphy is entering her seventh season with the Golden State Warriors organization, her second as Senior Vice President of Government and Community Relations, following three seasons serving as vice president of government and public affairs.

In this role, she is responsible for the company's social responsibility efforts, community programs, and partnerships. Murphy's role includes oversight of the organization's government and external relations efforts. Under her direction during the 2021-22 season, she led the company's 'Operation Dub Nation,' a first-of-its-kind health and safety plan to welcome fans back to live events at Chase Center. Murphy spearheaded Chase Center's efforts in hosting the 2022 NCAA Men's Basketball West Regionals, held for the first time in San Francisco since 1946. This was one of the first large Citywide events to occur since the COVID-19 pandemic, which drove over $21.5M of economic impact for San Francisco.

During the Warriors' planning phases before opening Chase Center, Murphy played a crucial role in developing the 'Chase Center Training Program,' in partnership with JP Morgan Chase, to provide training and employment for local workers in the community in various functions. The program resulted in an additional 1,500 local workers on the construction site during the peak phases of the process and equipped them with long-term trade skills to be hired by local unions to drive economic impact.

Leading up to Chase Center's grand opening, Murphy spearheaded all community outreach efforts and was the liaison between the Warriors and all government stakeholders. These efforts included the development of the arena's public transportation plan, which was awarded the prestigious California Transportation Foundation's Public Outreach Program of the Year Award. Murphy also helped develop the organization's plan to hire and integrate local and small businesses into its business model, highlighted by introducing the Taste Makers at Chase Center program, providing local food and beverage small businesses the opportunity to have a presence at Chase Center.

Prior to being promoted to vice president, Murphy served as director of public affairs. Before her tenure with the Warriors, Murphy was Legislative Aide to then San Francisco Supervisor Malia Cohen, where she was responsible for providing political and policy analysis on issues related to land use, development, and the City's budget. Prior to her role at San Francisco City Hall, she worked at Barbary Coast Consulting, where she worked on community organizing efforts for various development projects, including Sutter Health's $2.1 billion hospital rebuild project in San Francisco.

A native of San Francisco, Murphy serves on the Board of Directors of San Francisco Travel, the Leo T. McCarthy Center for Public Service and the Common Good at USF and the Cal Asian Chamber of Commerce. She holds a B.A. in International Relations and Political Science from the University of California, San Diego.

RAYMOND RIDDER

Senior Vice President, Communications

Raymond Ridder begins his 26th season with the Golden State Warriors and his sixth as the team's senior vice president of communications. A member of the NBA PR community for 30-plus years, Ridder is currently serving his third tour of duty as the Pacific Division's representative on the NBA's PR Advisory Committee.

In his current capacity, Ridder is the primary liaison between the Warriors and the local, national and international media. He is responsible for creating various PR plans and strategies for the organization and for coordinating and overseeing all player/media interviews, press conferences and written information disseminated by the team. Additionally, he oversees the team's corporate communications efforts and Warriors broadcasting.

Prior to being promoted to his current position, Ridder spent eight seasons as the team's vice president of communications and eight years as the club's executive director of public relations. He joined the organization prior to the 1998-99 campaign as the team's PR director, following eight seasons in various PR capacities with the Los Angeles Lakers.

Ridder and the Warriors' PR staff have been named recipients of the prestigious Brian McIntyre Media Relations Award on seven occasions. The award is given annually by the PBWA (Pro Basketball Writers Association) for excellence in NBA media relations. The Warriors PR staff was named the McIntyre Award winners following the 2009-10, 2013-14, 2015-16, 2016-17, 2017-18, 2018-19 and 2022-23 seasons.

In September 2017, Sports Business Journal recognized Ridder as one of the "Power Players" in the sports communications field in a special issue honoring those who have played a significant and influential role in sports media relations.

A graduate of California State University, San Bernardino, where he earned his B.A. in marketing, Ridder joined the Los Angeles Lakers' public relations department as an intern prior to the 1990-91 season. He was promoted to assistant public relations director in June of 1992 and spent the following six seasons in that capacity with the Lakers. During his tenure in Los Angeles, the Lakers were at the center of the NBA's stage on numerous occasions, including Magic Johnson's retirement and comeback, the signing of center Shaquille O'Neal and the presence of young phenom Kobe Bryant.

Ridder is a native of Riverside, Calif., and currently resides in Dublin with his wife, Sanae. He is an avid runner and a die-hard fan of his beloved Wichita State Shockers.

MARTY GLICK

Special Advisor to Ownership

Marty Glick is currently in his 14th season with the Golden State Warriors, his 12th as special advisor to ownership. In this capacity, Glick is primarily responsible for advising ownership and helping execute major strategic initiatives, which included the financing and development of Chase Center, the team's state-of-the-art sports and entertainment center, which opened in September 2019 in San Francisco and was recently named "Sports Facility of the Year" by the Sports Business Journal. He is also a board member and serves on the Grant committee for the Warriors Community Foundation, which has supplied over $14 million in grants to local Bay Area non-profits since 2012.

Prior to assuming his current role in the summer of 2013, Glick served two seasons as chief financial officer for the Warriors, overseeing all financial strategy, planning and accounting for the organization. He is also a minority investor.

A highly-regarded former biotech executive whose affiliations have a history of innovative success, Glick has accumulated a wealth of experience as a prominent financial figure for several large biotech businesses during his career. He spent more than a decade (1987-1997) at Genentech of South San Francisco, where he most recently served as vice president of finance. He also served as executive vice president and chief financial officer of Theravance, a Bay Area-based drug discovery company, for seven years (1998-2005) and was a co-founder and board member of Eyetech Pharmaceuticals.

Additionally, Glick was co-founder and chairman of the board of PEAK Surgical – an innovative private medical device company – and his résumé also includes a seven-plus year stint as the chair of the Biotech Tax and Finance Committee.

A native of Chicago, Glick earned his MBA in Finance at Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University, his Bachelor of Science in Business Administration (BSBA) in Accounting at Creighton University and is also a CPA and Chartered Accountant (Ontario, Canada).

ALVIN ATTLES

Warriors Legend & Community Ambassador

Alvin Attles, 85, is entering his 63rd year with the Warriors organization, the longest active streak with one team in the NBA. Twice honored by the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame, Attles joined the Warriors in 1960 (Philadelphia Warriors' fifth-round draft choice) and has since been affiliated with the club in one capacity or another, building a unique relationship based on commitment, loyalty and dedication.

In September 2019, Attles was inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame as part of the Class of 2019 in a ceremony in Springfield, Mass. Five years earlier in August 2014, Attles was honored with the John R. Bunn Lifetime Achievement Award. The award, which is the most prestigious of its kind presented by the Hall of Fame outside of Enshrinement, honors coaches, players and contributors whose outstanding accomplishments have impacted the game of basketball.

Attles is one of only six Warriors in franchise history to have his jersey retired (#16) – joining Rick Barry (#24), Wilt Chamberlain (#13), Tom Meschery (#14), Chris Mullin (#17), and Nate Thurmond (#42) – and remains one of the most publicly recognizable sports figures in the Bay Area.

His endless contributions locally as a player, executive and civic leader resulted in his much-deserved induction into the Bay Area Sports Hall of Fame in 1993. In the summer of 2006, the newly refurbished outdoor basketball court at Lincoln Square Park in downtown Oakland was permanently renamed "Alvin Attles Court" in honor of the local legend and longtime Oakland resident. And, most recently, the Warriors announced that the team will present the Alvin Attles Volunteer Award to the team employee who goes above and beyond in their efforts to serve the Bay Area community as part of the organization's Helping Hands volunteer program.

In the latter stages of the 1969-70 NBA campaign, Attles was named head coach of the Warriors, replacing George Lee after 52 games (spent the final two years of his playing career [1969-70 and 1970-71] as a player/coach). His 30-game stint as head coach to end that season proved to be the start of the longest head coaching run in Warriors franchise history, a 13-plus year tenure which produced, among other highlights, the first NBA Championship in the club's West Coast history (1974-75).

During his 13-year coaching run, Attles guided the Warriors to six playoff berths, two division titles and amassed an overall record of 557-518, which ranks 25th on the NBA's all-time coach win list. One season after leading Golden State to the NBA title, he led the Warriors to a sparkling 59-23 record in 1975-76, which stood as the best mark in franchise history until 2014-15 and was the top record in the NBA that season. He also was named head coach of the Western Conference All-Star Team in both 1975 and 1976. Attles completed his coaching career in 1982-83 to become the Warriors GM, heading the team's basketball operations for three years.

One of the most aggressive and hard-nosed players in the league, Attles earned the unique nickname of "The Destroyer," which appropriately described his mentality on the floor. During his 11-year NBA career, he averaged 8.9 points, 3.5 rebounds and 3.5 assists in 711 regular-season games and currently ranks fifth on the Warriors all-time games played list (711). Furthermore, he was involved in one of the most memorable games in NBA history on March 2, 1962, when he and teammate Wilt Chamberlain combined for 117 points against the New York Knicks, the most ever by a pair of players in league annals. In that game, Attles tallied 17 points (8-8 FG, 1-1 FT), while Chamberlain netted an all-time NBA record 100 points. He retired following the 1970-71 campaign to focus strictly on coaching, eliminating his dual role as player/coach.

A 1960 graduate of North Carolina A&T, Attles earned his bachelor's degree in physical education and history. He later added a master's degree in curriculum and instruction to his credentials from the University of San Francisco in 1983. In 2015, Attles became the first player to have his number retired by North Carolina A&T when the school hung his #22 jersey from the rafters.

Al and his wife, Wilhelmina, reside in Oakland, Calif., and have two adult children, Alvin III and Erica.

BOB FITZGERALD

Television Play-by-Play Announcer

One of the most recognizable sports personalities in the Bay Area, Bob Fitzgerald enters his 31st season with the Warriors. Fitz has served as television play-by-play announcer for the Warriors on NBC Sports Bay Area since 1997. He called his first Warrior game on radio, Feb 18, 1993 as the backup radio play by play broadcaster and host of the Warriors Roundtable television programs. Since his arrival, the Warriors broadcast team has received 16 nominations and won three Emmy Awards for "Best Live Sports Broadcast," most recently for NBC Sports Bay Area's broadcast of the Warriors vs. Kings game during the 2014-15 season that featured Klay Thompson's NBA-record 37 points in a single quarter. Fitzgerald has received six Emmy nominations for "Best On-Camera" and was awarded the Emmy twice for "Best On-Camera, Play-by-Play Sports" for Northern California in 2007 and 2014.

On a national basis, Fitzgerald currently calls NFL and college football games for Sports USA Radio as well as the San Francisco 49ers preseason broadcasts. He has 25 years of experience broadcasting the Olympic games for NBC Sports having called the 2021 Tokyo Olympics (Men's and Women's Basketball). Additional credits include NBC's 2012 London Summer Olympics (Men's and Women's Basketball), 2008 Beijing Summer Olympics (Men's and Women's Water Polo), 2004 Athens Summer Olympics (Men's and Women's Basketball) and the 1996 Atlanta Summer Olympics (Men's and Women's Swimming). Fitzgerald was also chosen to call the NBA Playoffs in 2020 for TNT at the Walt Disney World Resort in Orlando. Fitzgerald has also handled network television NFL broadcasts for NBC and the NBA G League Finals series for Versus in 2010.

In 2019, Fitzgerald finished a 28-year run at KNBR radio in San Francisco, hosting the popular Fitz and Brooks show for 15 years. Fitzgerald was the television and radio voice for the San Jose SaberCats of the Arena Football League for twenty years and spent six years as the play-by-play voice for ESPN's NBA Basketball video game series. He also wrote a column for the Oakland Tribune and ANG Newspapers for seven years.

A graduate of the University of Notre Dame, Fitzgerald also received his master's degree in sports management from the Ohio State University. While at Notre Dame, he worked as a play-by-play broadcaster for Fighting Irish football and basketball on campus radio station WVFI.

An avid golfer, Fitzgerald lives on the Peninsula with his children, Erin, Ryan and Quinn.

KELENNA AZUBUIKE

Television Analyst

Kelenna Azubuike enters his fifth season as the team's television color analyst and ninth as a member of the Warriors broadcast team. Azubuike will team with multi-time Emmy Award-winning play-by-play announcer Bob Fitzgerald to analyze action for all games carried on NBC Sports Bay Area.

Azubuike joined the Warriors broadcast team during the 2015-16 season serving as an analyst on Warriors Pregame and Postgame Live for NBC Sports Bay Area. Additionally, he has worked as an analyst on Warriors radio broadcasts on occasion and has contributed to various other broadcasting platforms at NBC Sports Bay Area.

Azubuike played four seasons with the Warriors (2006-07 to 2009-10) and was a member of the "We Believe" team, which upset the top-seeded Dallas Mavericks in the first round of the 2007 NBA playoffs, becoming the first eight-seed to defeat a one-seed in a best-of-seven playoff series. In seven NBA seasons with Golden State, Dallas, New York Knicks and Cleveland Cavaliers, he posted career averages of 10.5 points, 4.0 rebounds, 1.1 assists and 24.3 minutes in 208 games (84 starts).

Born in London, England, and raised in Tulsa, Oklahoma, Azubuike attended the University of Kentucky. In three seasons in Lexington, he helped the Wildcats earn two Southeastern Conference titles, two SEC Tournament titles, and two NCAA Elite Eight appearances averaging 10.0 points and 3.7 rebounds in 97 career games.

95.7 The Game (KGMZ-FM) is the flagship radio station of the Golden State Warriors. In addition to airing all preseason, regular-season and postseason games, the San Francisco-based all-sports station's Warriors programming includes expanded pre & post-game shows and heightened daily Warriors coverage.

TIM ROYE

Radio Play-by-Play Announcer

Tim Roye begins his 29th season of handling the play-by-play duties for all Warriors radio broadcasts on the club's flagship station, 95.7 The Game FM, and the Warriors Radio Network. Named the National Sports Media Association (NSMA) 2022 California Sportscaster of the Year, Roye has called the action for the Warriors' four NBA Championships, a historic 73-win campaign and five-straight trips to the NBA Finals. Roye spoke for Warriors fans everywhere when, at the final buzzer of Game 6 of the 2015 NBA Finals in Cleveland, he famously proclaimed, "It's taken 40 years, but once again, the Bay's team is the best team! The Golden State Warriors have won the NBA title!"

In addition to his play-by-play duties, Roye also continues to host the Warriors' pregame and postgame shows. Overall, this is his 34th year of working NBA play-by-play.

In recent years, Roye has also done television baseball play-by-play work for the Oakland A's and Sacramento Rivercats (then the Oakland A's Triple-A affiliate), television play-by-play for Cal football, and has served as a back-up radio broadcaster for Stanford football for the past decade. In the past, he has also served as an auto racing analyst for NBC Sports Bay Area.

Prior to his arrival to Golden State in 1995, Roye spent six seasons with the Sacramento Kings' broadcast team as the pregame, halftime and postgame host for the team's radio broadcasts on KHTK-AM and KFBK-AM. He also handled the radio play-by-play duties for 45 games during the 1994-95 season. Roye hosted a daily three-hour sports talk show on KHTK as well as hosting a weekly two-hour Kings radio program. Prior to his work at KHTK, Roye served as sports director at KFBK in Sacramento for five years (1989-94) and handled radio play-by-play and television color analyst duties for the Sacramento Gold Miners of the Canadian Football League, and was also the radio voice of Sac State football, basketball and baseball. Roye spent two years in the Phoenix market from 1987-89, serving as a talk show host for KTAR radio and a correspondent for the Arizona Cardinals Radio Network. He also served as the color analyst for the Arizona State University Basketball Network and called play-by-play for the Phoenix Firebirds and Sun Devil baseball teams.

Following his graduation from Utica College in New York, Roye spent eight years (1978-86) as the sports director at Utica's WIBX-WNYZ radio. He later moved to Birmingham, Ala., where he was the sports director at WVOK radio from 1986-87 and was one of the voices of UAB men's basketball.

Roye was inducted into the Utica College Hall of Fame in 2013, earning the Lifetime Achievement honor. He is also a member of the SUNY Utica Hall of Fame. The Ray Simon Institute for Public Relations and Journalism named him the 2021 Outstanding Public Relations/Journalism Alumnus at Utica College for his professional achievements.

The Chula Vista, Calif., native resides in Fairfield, Calif., with his wife, Cinde, and their two children, Zachary James and Gabrielle Elizabeth. In the offseason, he helps run basketball camps and participates in various charity events throughout the Bay Area.

TOM TOLBERT

Radio Analyst

Tom Tolbert enters his eighth season (2012-13, 2019-present) alongside play-by-play announcer Tim Roye, serving as analyst for all home radio broadcasts for the third consecutive season.

Tolbert, who played for the Warriors from 1989-92 as part of a seven-year NBA career, began his radio announcing duties with the Warriors during the 2012-13 campaign, working as an analyst for 10 regular season home games. He was alongside Roye during Golden State's 2015 NBA championship run, when the team captured its first title in 40 years.

A popular Bay Area sports radio host for more than 20 years, Tolbert currently hosts an afternoon show on KNBR. He had previous stints as an analyst with the NBC and ESPN, calling the 2003 NBA Finals on ABC.

During Tolbert's three seasons as a player with the Warriors, the team reached the NBA Playoffs twice, including a trip to the Western Conference Semifinals in 1991. For his career, Tolbert played seven seasons in the NBA, averaging 6.5 points and 4.0 rebounds per game over 312 regular-season contests with the Charlotte Hornets, Orlando Magic, Los Angeles Clippers and Golden State Warriors. Prior to his NBA career, Tolbert was college teammates with Warriors Head Coach Steve Kerr at the University of Arizona.
